MAYOR FIGHT IN COURT

Furman Miss Ghrist

'MISS MON VALLEY' — Carolyn Lee Ghrist receives her crown as "Miss Mon Valley" from Lt. Gov. Roy Furman at the second annual pageant held last night at Twin Coaches. The affair was sponsored by the Monessen Junior Women's Club.

Carolyn Lee Ghrist 'Miss Mon Valley'

Carolyn Lee Ghrist, who will be a senior at California State Teachers College next term, will represent Monongahela valley in the "Miss Pennsylvania" pageant later this month at West Chester.

She was selected from a field of 11 contestants in the Miss Mon Valley pageant at Twin Coaches sponsored by the Junior Women's Club of Monessen last night and was crowned "Miss Mon Valley" by Lt. Gov. Roy Furman.

Her selection was popular with the large crowd and was greeted enthusiastically after the girls had appeared in three categories to be judged. They were chosen for general beauty of face and figure in evening gown and bathing suit and for talent displays.

Pat Marietta, of Charleroi, was first runner-up and Rosalie Culp, of Monessen was second runner-up. Gloria Saloiti, of Monessen, won the "Miss Congeniality" award. The other finalist was Dena Morris, another California student.

Other contestants were Carol Bernardo, Alice Steinmiller, Carole Lou Wasicek, Frances Petrosky, Donna Bellone and Phyllis Sylvania.

CSTC Student

Miss Ghrist is 21 years old, five feet, six and a quarter inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ghrist, of Claysville, and adopted the Monongahela valley for her part time home only three years ago, when she came to California State Teachers College as a student.

For her talent display she gave a reading from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion". She wore a white evening gown with a very full skirt accented with a large red rose. In bathing suit competition she wore a gold satin nylon suit.

After being selected as a finalist Miss Ghrist was to answer three questions. "Which would you choose at the present time, marriage or a career?; "What do you think of Elvis Presley?" and "Why would you like to be chosen Miss Mon Valley?" Her charm and poise in answering these in a simple direct manner clinched the title.

The judges made personality selections at a dinner at the Charleroi Elks before the pageant, when they met the girls informally.

Mrs. Joseph Dudas, Jr. was master of ceremonies and introduced the girls one time by name after which they were known only by number. As they entered with their military escorts from the Greater Pittsburgh Air Force Base each was presented before Miss Mon Valley of 1956, Mrs. Kenneth Bell, the former Patricia

Arnold City Child Killed by Auto in Accident Near Home

Pretty, blue-eyed Charmaine Moran, aged 4, of nearby Arnold City, died in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital at 6:35 p. m. yesterday, about 3½ hours after she was struck by a neighbor's car near her home.

The blonde-haired tot was injured about 3 p. m. when she dashed from behind a road repair machine into the path of a car driven by William Dews, 65, who lives less than 100 feet from the Moran home.

Charmaine, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Moran, was rushed to the hospital suffering from shock, internal injuries and abrasions.

State Police at Belle Vernon said the accident occurred when Dews, an organizer for the United Mine Workers Pittsburgh office, had halted his car near the intersection of Third St. and Mikula Rd. to speak to the operator of a road rolling machine.

Inquest Scheduled

Just as Dews started his car and began pulling away, the girl ran from behind the machine and into the path of the auto. Her tiny body was knocked to the ground.

The Washington County Coroner's office made a preliminary investigation of the accident. A spokesman for the office said there "definitely" will be an inquest into the death.

Besides her parents, Charmaine is survived by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hawks with whom the Morans made their home, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moran, of R. D. 1, West Newton.

Friends are being received at the McCrory Funeral Home in Fayette City, where services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. The Rev. George Guest, pastor of Marion Presbyterian Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Belle Vernon Cemetery.

Hogan Quits Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Ben Hogan withdrew from the U. S. Open golf championship today because of neuralgic chest pains. Hogan went to a hospital before his scheduled tee-off time and was granted an hour's starting delay. But the pain was so severe that he announced his withdrawal.

Hearing into Monongahela Case Delayed

Originally scheduled for today, the habeas corpus hearing for Mrs. Lena Trappin, 75, of Monongahela, has been postponed until Friday, June 21, at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Trappin has been charged with murder and with being accessory before and after the fact in the slaying of Joseph Mancuso, 65-year-old Monongahela shoemaker on May 2.

Defense Attorney William H. Robinson is seeking Mrs. Trappin's release for lack of evidence. He has alleged that the State failed to present a prima facie case at the arraignment of Mrs. Trappin before Alderman Byron C. Coleman for a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Trappin is free on $3,500 bond.

The hearing apparently was postponed because a Monongahela city patrolman, who took part in the investigation of the case, is on vacation.

An autopsy revealed that Mancuso died of strangulation, caused by external means. A brown belt was looped around his neck when his body was found.

Panepinto Demas

PATROLMAN GIVEN HEARING — Patrolman Phillip Panepinto met with his attorney, Peter Demas, prior to Panepinto's public hearing before Council yesterday on misconduct charges preferred by Mayor Hugo J. Parente.

Council Hears Charges Against Patrolman

Mayor Hugo J. Parente yesterday charged Monessen Patrolman Phillip Panepinto with misconduct and violations of police regulations and recommended that he be suspended for 30 days without pay or be discharged from the force.

The Mayor made his charges against the patrolman at a public hearing of City Council which lasted over two hours.

Specifically, the Mayor made two formal charges against Panepinto. Both of the alleged offenses occurred during the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift on May 23.

One charge was that he "failed to make hourly calls of police headquarters . . . on May 23 and on other occasions". The other was "sleeping on duty."

Panepinto, who was given a 10-day suspension without pay on the same charges on May 24, did not deny the first charge entirely. But he denied the "sleeping on duty" charge, stating he "was not sleeping but relaxing" when seen in a parked taxi cab by Lt. Joseph Reday.

Decision Deferred

Council, after hearing the testimony of six witnesses — five against and one for Panepinto — deferred a decision.

Acting upon a recommendation of Parente, Council voted to withhold a verdict until it studies a transcript of the testimony. Council is expected to make its decision at a special meeting on June 26.

Frank P. Ezerski, Jr., assistant City solicitor, handled the prosecution and Panepinto was defended by Atty. Peter Demas. Councilman David Canova presided.

The case has political overtones. Like several other members of the Police Department, Panepinto opposed Parente in the recent Democratic primary.

Yesterday's hearing, which lasted from 12:15 to 2:20 p. m., had the atmosphere of a courtroom trial as witnesses were cross-examined, attorneys clashed verbally and Canova called for "order in the courtroom."

Following Parente's opening charges, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka read a report which he said was submitted by Reday, the lieutenant on duty. Reday later made the report verbally.

Lieutenant's Report

Reday's written report said that Panepinto, who was working a downtown beat on Donner and Schoonmaker avenues from Third to 12th streets, had failed to call in or report in person at the station up to 5 a. m.

"Figuring something was wrong," Reday's report continued "I decided to check personally in the police car. I visited restaurants and other places open all night, such as taxi offices."

Reday said he found Panepinto's coat in the latter's personal car parked in the parking plaza. Later he said he checked the Monessen Taxi Co. at 465 Schoon-

County Board's Solicitor Says Write-ins Illegal

The Westmoreland County court will be asked to decide the winners of several Republican nominations for local offices in Monessen.

This was apparent today after the county commissioners, on the advice of their solicitor, rejected the petitions of three candidates to accumulate write-in votes cast for them in the Republican primary under various versions of their names.

If the commissioner's ruling stands, Mayor Hugo J. Parente will be the Republican as well as the Democratic nominee for re-election.

Parente had 70 votes cast for him under his full name on the Republican ticket while his opponent, John R. Stieska, had only 58.

Advice of Solicitor

And the county solicitor, P. K. Jones, of New Kensington, advised the commissioners that these are the only votes that can be legally counted. Jones's advice was accepted by unanimous vote of the three commissioners, two of whom are Democrats and one a Republican.

However, Stieska said he would appeal the decision to the county court. He has two days in which to file the appeal.

If the court permits all the votes cast under all versions of Parente's and Stieska's names to be counted, Stieska would be the Republican nominee.

An unofficial tabulation of these votes today gave Stieska 169 and Parente, 149.

The official count board found 10 different versions of Stieska's name on the paper rolls of the Monessen voting machines. It is on these rolls that write-in and sticker votes are cast. There were six different versions of Parente's name.

Jones interpreted the law as providing no leeway where voting machines are used although he conceded that the situation is different where paper ballots are used.

This was disputed by Attorney Louis Mandarino, of Monessen, who was representing Dr. G. L. Trilli. Dr. Trilli was defeated for the Democratic nomination for city treasurer by incumbent John P. Spielman.

Plans Court Test

Spielman also received more correct write-ins on the Republican ticket than Dr. Trilli — 27 to 20. But Dr. Trilli's accumulated total would exceed Spielman's by 106 to 86.

Dr. Trilli, like Stieska, indicated that he will take the case to court.

In the six-man contest for two City council nominations, the situation was still more confused if that's possible.

The commissioners had before them a petition from John Harhai, who won a nomination on the Democratic ticket along with incumbent Councilman John Molnar. Harhai asked to have all his votes on the Republican ticket accumulated, which apparently would give him a GOP nomination.

Using Jones's interpretation of the law, William Snyder and Molnar would be the Republican winners. Snyder had 28 correctly spelled votes cast for him and Molnar, 27.

But if the votes are accumulat-

Bill to Permit Police to Use Radar on Speed

HARRISBURG (UP) — House-approved legislation to permit state police to use radar to enforce speed laws was in the Senate today with the strong backing of Gov. George M. Leader.

The House passed the bipartisan bill Wednesday, 146-45, after voting down an attempt to kill the measure in committee. The governor urged the Senate to "follow the lead of the House in approving this vital legislation that can save hundreds of lives each year."

"We have reached the point where we must use every enforcement weapon possible if we are to reduce killings on our highways," Leader said. "When motorists become conscious of their speed, they also become conscious of all their driving habits, which must result in a noticeable drop in other moving violations that cause death."

Rep. Blaine C. Hocker (R-Dauphin) tried to return the bill to the Appropriations Committee, but his motion was defeated with GOP lawmakers joining with Democrats to vote down the maneuver, 90-109. Hocker told the House he opposed radar because it would "cost a lot of money" and it was "something new."

The bill would allow the use of radar and other electronic devices in speed limit enforcement under three provisions: that the radar device be approved by the state revenue secretary and tested for accuracy and that the highways be posted that radar was being used.

Final Vote on Machinery Tax Due in Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to eliminate the Allegheny County machinery tax was moved into position for final action this week in the state Senate.

The measure would prohibit Allegheny County school districts from assessing industrial machinery for tax purposes. It was sponsored by Allegheny County Republican Reps. Lawrence V. Gibb and Ronald L. Thompson. Previous legislatures removed the tax in the state's 66 other counties and Pittsburgh.

The bill specifies that machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment contained in any mill, mine, or industrial establishment in the county could not be assessed. It was amended in the House to eliminate the tax over a five year period starting in 1958 to allow the school districts to adjust their budgets.

Gibb said presently only boroughs and townships in the county may assess machinery for tax purposes. He said the legislation would "equalize" assessments in the state.

USW in Drive To Up Wages Of Fabricators

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United Steelworkers Union says it plans to increase wage and fringe benefits for 200,000 workers in steel fabricating plants to at least the level of those for basic steel workers.

It also said only a two-year contract would be agreed to in this year's negotiations covering workers in 1,200 steel fabricating plants. The purpose, it said, is to have all the union's wage contracts expire in 1959 when the three-year contracts covering basic steel workers expire.

The declaration was made Wednesday by the union's 170-man Wage Policy Committee.

Basic steel wage contracts provided a 20-cent hourly increase in wages and other benefits last year, followed by 12.5 cent raise this year and 13.1 cent next year.

Basic steel workers also received a three-cent hourly cost of living pay increase in January and are scheduled to get at least another four cents an hour July 1.

The steelworkers' average hourly pay now is $2.57½ exclusive of the recent cost of living hike.

Police Search For Leads in Three Burglaries

Monessen police are on the lookout for burglars who broke into two local service stations and a garage sometime after 4 o'clock this morning, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported.

Broken into were the Esso Station at 9th St. and Donner Ave., Texaco Station at Manown St. and East Schoonmaker Ave. and Sanford Motors garage at 267 East Donner Ave.

Besides rifling vending machines and drawers, the burglars upset the machines and furniture and tossed paper files and records onto the floors.

At the Texaco station they took large quantities of merchandise trading stamps valued at over $100. At Sanford Motors, they ransacked beverage and cigarette machines and took about $15 in coins. It was not immediately determined what was taken, if anything, from the Esso Station.

Kuvinka said Lt. James Horan has been assigned to investigate the burglaries. He is not expected to make a full report until late today.

Open Meetings Legislation on Leader's Desk

HARRISBURG (UP) — Senate action Wednesday night sent to Gov. George M. Leader legislation requiring open meetings of legislative bodies in local political subdivisions and of some state agencies.

The open meetings which the public would be entitled to attend would apply to county commissioners, school districts, councils and those state agencies which perform an "essential governmental function and whose bonds are not backed by the full faith and credit of the state." This would include such agencies as the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and the General State Authority.

The Senate concurred with amendments inserted by the House to send the bill to the governor.

Youngwood Plant Workers Still Out

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—An international representative of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was to confer today with employes of the Youngwood plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp., who quit work Tuesday in protest to a company time survey.

The plant has remained closed with 208 workers idle. The workers said the work stoppage was a "spontaneous demonstration," but company officials said it was an illegal strike because no grievance was filed.

Charleroi Forms Planning Group

Charleroi Borough Council Tuesday took initial steps toward organizing a Planning Commission for the community.

The Council set up a Department of Borough Planning wherein it can establish a five-man planning commission.

Appointment of the five men is expected at the next meeting of Council.

Andrew Kritsky Renamed Head of Young Democrats

Andrew Kritsky of Monessen last night was reelected to a third term as president of the Young Democrats of Westmoreland County. It marks the first time a president has been elected to a third term in the organization.

Others elected at the meeting held in the Moose Club in Greensburg were:

Robert D'Iorio, of New Kensington, vice president; Marjorie Jobe of Scottdale, corresponding secretary; Frank Mesich, of Greensburg, treasurer, and Mary Nardizzi, also of Greensburg, recording secretary.

Kritsky will name executive committeemen and other committees at the next regular meeting.

Latrobe Man Held In Traffic Death

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—A coroner's jury recommended today that Thomas Piper, 16, Latrobe RD 4, be held for grand jury action in the death of Thomas Hanna, 75, Latrobe, who was run down by Piper's automobile.

Hanna was one of two pedestrians struck by Piper's machine on Lincoln St., Latrobe, April 13. Hanna died the next day in Latrobe Hospital. Also injured was Charles Mastella, 35, Bossco.

City Needs $60,000 To Pay Paving Debts

City Council yesterday passed a resolution calling for a short term loan of $60,000 to meet debts resulting from the failure of "some" property owners to pay street liens owed the City.

Director of Finances David Caldwell said the City had advanced over $60,000 and more in street lien payments in the 1957 budget but some taxpayers, particularly in the areas surrounding and including Pacific Dr. and Columbus Blvd., have neglected to make these payments. Since they failed to pay, we had to use $60,000 from the general fund to pay the contractors who paved the streets in these areas."

The money, according to the resolution, will be borrowed from the Monessen branch of Mellon Bank at 3½ per cent interest. Canova said the City expects to pay off the loan from current revenues and taxes within 120 days.

Following the passage of the resolution, Council instructed the City's legal department and treasurer to take steps to collect the back payments.

In his regular report, Director of Streets David Victoria reported the City's secondary street paving program will get underway soon and cover 16 streets at a total cost of $31,795. Streets included in the program are:

Duquesne Slag Head On the Witness Stand

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The intermediary in a transaction between a building supplies contractor and Nick Stirone, Laborers' union official, testified today in the federal court trial of the labor leader on extortion charges.

The witness was Robert Dierker, president of the Duquesne Slag Products Co., who was called as a defense witness. He arranged the meeting between Stirone and William G. Rider, which Rider said resulted in a $31,000 "shakedown" by the union official.

Stirone, testifying Wednesday, denied Rider's extortion charge and said the contractor had agreed to pay him 50 cents a cubic yard for ready-mixed concrete delivered to a construction job in return for aid in getting the contract.

Rider contended the payments were tribute to Stirone paid under threat of labor trouble.

Stirone said he entered into the agreement with Rider only after he was assured none of his union members would be affected.

Stirone said he met Rider "for the first time in my life" on Aug. 29, 1951. He testified Robert Dierker, president of Duquesne Slag Products Co., had asked him to help Rider get the contract for supplying ready-mix concrete to Ragnar Benson, Inc., principal contractor at a Pittsburgh Steel Co. construction project in Allenport.

Stirone said he told Rider "I would expect a commission" and specified the 50 cents-a-cubic-yard price.

"He (Rider) sat and pondered for a few minutes and then said 'Fine, it's a deal.'" Stirone testified.

Stirone said he called Jacob Kassab, vice president of Ragnar Benson, to arrange the deal "as a personal favor."

Federal prosecutors, in cross-examination, attempted to establish a course of conduct on the part of Stirone which might prove prejudicial to his defense claims.

Gardlock Wins Vote Recanvass

Raymond E. Gardlock is the official winner of the Democratic nomination for mayor of New Kensington by 37 votes.

In a recanvassing of the vote, Ed Zaleski shaved 20 votes from Gardlock's unofficial victory of 57 votes in the May 21 primary.

Westmoreland County Judge Richard Laird supervised the recanvassing of the 32 voting machines.

Judge Laird ordered the recanvass on petition of Zaleski who claimed mistakes had been made in taking the totals from some of the New Kensington machines the night of the primary.

U. S. Planes Are Warned Against China 'Invasion'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Communist China today followed up its charges that U. S planes "invaded" China with a warning that "further aggression" will be met with the full might of the Chinese armed forces

The U.S. Navy said Red Chinese coastal batteries opened up Wednesday on an American carrier plane flying eight miles outside the Chinese mainland Peiping called the incident a planned attack aimed at preventing the "peaceful liberation" of Formosa

The State Department declined any comment pending outcome of a Navy investigation into the incident, but it was believed the investigation would lead to a protest to the Peiping government

Promises Retaliation

The Peiping Peoples Daily official organ of the Chinese Communist government renewed and amplified its angry charges today.

The editorial was broadcast by Peiping Radio chief propaganda outlet for Red China.

"The Chinese people do not threaten nor do they invade other countries nor will they allow their country to be threatened or invaded," it said. "If the American aggressors dare to invade China our armed forces will deal them smashing blows"

"Yesterday's incident was aimed at creating tension in the Far East and preventing the peaceful liberation of Taiwan (Formosa). China territorial land, sea and air are inviolable The American aggressors will have to face all the consequences of their provocative acts"

Claims Two Planes

In Taipei, Rear Adm. Lu Ho-tu, a Nationalist military spokesman said the Communists opened fire on Chinese planes an hour and a half before they shot at the American plane, but that the Nationalist aircraft escaped damage Peiping claimed two Nationalist planes shot down and one U S plane damaged.

"All our planes returned undamaged," Lu said

The incident, latest in a series of U.S. - Communist Chinese skirmishes in the Formosa Straits area, occurred early Wednesday morning. The Navy said Communist anti-aircraft batteries hit and slightly damaged the plane, but no crew members were injured

The plane was on a routine training flight It apparently wandered off course in hazy weather But the Navy insisted it was no closer than eight miles to the Red Chinese shore.

The Navy did not identify either the type of plane or its crew members. It said only that the plane was based aboard the 33-100-ton aircraft carrier Hornet which is part of the U S 7th Fleet patrolling the Formosa Straits.

manor Ave and found Panepinto sleeping in the back seat of a cab"

"This was about 5 10 a. m.," Reday said "I didn't awaken him I went outside figuring he would wake up and make his rounds and that everything would be O K I figured I waited outside in the police car for about 15 or 20 minutes Then I went back to the cab and awakened him. I told him to make his rounds and he said he did I was so mad I just slammed the door and left"

The other two policemen on duty that night, Patrolmen Joseph Ezzo and Anthony Santora, said they had last seen Panepinto about 3 30 a m at a restaurant.

Did not Report

Desk Sergeant Michael Nyalko testified that Panepinto did not report in "at all" during the shift in question

Tony Naccarato a driver for the Monessen Taxi Co who was Panepinto's only witness, testified that he last saw Panepinto about 4 a m "when Panepinto and I left a restaurant"

"He said he had to check some more of his beat," Naccarato said "The last I saw of him was near Mellon Bank walking towards Fifth St"

When he took the stand, Panepinto, 41, a 10-year veteran on the force, said he had been making his regular rounds from 11 p m until about 5 a. m. when he started on his final round. He said he "hadn't been feeling good all night"

In fact I had been taking pills on a doctor's prescription for a cold and chills he said

"When I got to the cab station, I had run out of my regular pills I was talking to the Hatalowich brothers (George and Bill, owners of the taxi firm) and asked Bill if he had any aspirins. He gave me one.

"I went to the rear of the cab garage for some water and started feeling bad I sat in the car to relax and must have dozed off — I don't know. I wanted to tell Reday when he nudged me but he was mad and left I know I wasn't in the car more than five minutes"

Talked to Brothers

Although Panepinto said he talked to the Hatalowich brothers while they were repairing a cab in the garage, Reday testified that he didn't see the brothers on either trip he made to the garage.

The brothers, according to Demas and Panepinto were to testify in the patrolman's behalf but did not appear at the hearing

On cross-examination by Ezerski Panepinto admitted he should have made hourly calls to the station He claimed that Santora and Ezzo "knew where I would be and I figured if someone wanted me they knew where to find me I wasn't feeling well at all

Ezerski then asked

"If you weren't feeling well and had this cold and these chills why didn't you wear your coat instead of leaving it in the car?"

Panepinto said it was a "little warm when I went on duty but I put the coat in the car in case it got chilly"

Parente asked Panepinto

"Did you or did you not tell Nyalko that he could have told them you called in?"

Panepinto said he didn't

Nyalko, called back to the stand said he did but "this was a few days later and I don't believe it had anything to do with this"

During the hearing, Kuvinka read 17 charges he had prepared against Panepinto on June 25 1956, when the patrolman was in charge of checking parking meters He said he submitted the charges to Parente but the Mayor declined at the time to change Panepinto's duties thinking maybe a change would help him

Other Warnings

Kuvinka said that yesterday's charge of failing to make hourly reports was "not the first time for him" Kuvinka said he has issued at least one warning a month for the past three years."

Panepinto said he could recall one or two such warnings during the time

In his summation Demas said "The police have no union It is up to Council to give fair play He should be allowed the benefit of any doubt because of his 10-year service . . ."

The Mayor said:

"We are not out for anybody's scalp but when a police officer sleeps on duties falls asleep on the job and has complete disregard for orders I believe we are correct in bringing him to trial"

The Mayor recommended that Council read a transcript of the testimony before making a decision

Kotch — Belan

CITY ENGINEER RESIGNS—John Kotch, III yesterday announced his resignation as Monessen City Engineer effective June 30 Associated with the local engineering department for 10 years, five as head of the department, Kotch has accepted a position as engineer with Gerald Vitale, Inc , of Monessen His resignation was accepted "with regret" by Council yesterday. Mayor Hugo J Parente and other members of Council each said Kotch did an "excellent job" in helping in the many progressive developments of the City since he joined the department Richard Belan, assistant engineer, will take over Kotch's duties until Council acts on the vacancy

Turnpike Official Still on the Stand

HARRISBURG (UP)—Defense attorneys today will cross-examine Franklin V. Summers, comptroller of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, on his testimony the commission paid the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp. Reading, for work that was never done.

Summers is a key prosecution witness in the state's case against nine men charged with defrauding the commission in an alleged conspiracy involving the firm.

Under direct questioning by District Attorney Huette F Dowling Wednesday, Summers said he was ordered by one of the defendants, to pay claims to Manu-Mine for work which according to reports of the turnpike's district engineers was not performed

Manu-Mine is named by the Commonwealth as the instrumentality in an alleged $9 500 000 swindle of the turnpike through contracts for the filling of abandoned coal mines beneath the Northeastern Extension in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties

Summers said the turnpike's district engineer, C J Gulden, Pittston, made measurements of drilling work done by the firm and found it less than claimed by the firm on requisitions for payments.

He said although Manu-Mine claims had been approved by the engineer, Gulden submitted reports showing his own measurements of work performed. Summers said he was ordered by Paul J. McNeill, then commission finance director, to pay Manu-Mine's claims

"I checked with Mr McNeill," Summer said, "and was told to pay on the billed footage — the larger amount"

McNeill is among those on trial together with former commission chairman Thomas J Evans, Coaldale, and suspended commissioner James F Torrance, Export who also are being tried on a charge of misconduct in office.

Two other commission officials and two top officers of Manu-Mine are included in the conspiracy charge

Summers also indicated the contract with Manu - Mine was changed from an "engineering" contract to a 'construction' contract to expedite payment of the firm's claims.

Summers testified that four months after the contract was approved Feb 28, 1955, he was ordered to make payments to the firm without waiting for prior approval by the five commission members as permitted under the terms of construction agreements

Claims under engineering contracts, he said may only be paid after the formal approval of the commission at a regular commission meeting

Summers testified he overheard a telephone conversation between McNeill and an unnamed Manu-Mine official. He said McNeill directed the firm to file a performance bond and a labor and materials bond to insure proper execution of the contract The bonds were filed by the firm, but dated back to March 2 Summers said

The bonds are not required in engineering contracts, but are required before the awarding of construction contracts

ed. Snyder and Stephen Sinchak would be the apparent winners

However, neither Snyder nor Sinchak is displaying an interest in the Republican nominations

A tabulation made by The Daily Independent from the official count sheets as submitted to the commissioners gave these totals of all the votes cast for the councilmanic candidates using all versions of their names Snyder 10b Sinchak, 78 Harhai, 71 David F Victoria 61 and Molnar 56

Separate Petition

Besides asking the commissioners to accumulate their votes Dr Trulli and Harhai each submitted a separate petition asking to have their nominations on the Republican ticket formally certified.

The Republican minority commissioner, Smith McKee, Jr., made a motion to that effect He stated that Harhai had received 42 votes under one version of his name and that this was enough to certify him to the nomination along with Snyder, who received 43 under one version of his name

McKee said he did not include Snyder in his motion because Snyder had not filed a petition

However, McKee's motion was lost for want of a second from either of the Democratic commissioners Chairman Robert V Kuvinka and Jos W Kromer

Harhai was represented by Attorney Henry A Masich of Monessen

What the court will be asked to decide therefore whether to consider the intent of the voters as well as their spelling ability

Mandarino cited several court decisions which held that if the identity of the candidate was plain votes could be counted for him regardless of whether his name was misspelled or whether just his last name was used to Ridge; Shady, from Crest to Park Manor Beechview, from Elm to Boyd, and Boyd, from Beechview to Second

Victoria also reported the new street sweeper has been placed in service. He suggested that the Streets Department work with the Police Department to set up a traffic plan which would keep streets free of parked vehicles while the sweeper is operating.

He completed his report by stating the oiling of unpaved streets has been completed and that his department has been busy since spring repairing various blacktop streets and repainting centerlines.

Director of Parks John Molnar said augmented works crews have been cleaning and painting City properties and that City Park is in "tip-top shape" Other parks are also ready for the summer recreational programs, he added

Two bids were submitted for a new police car. With the trade-in value included, Murphy Ford Sales, of Monessen, submitted a bid of $2.050 and the John L. Gibson Garage $1,820 Both bids were ordered tabulated and City mechanics were instructed to examine them to see if they meet the specifications requested by the City

Westmoreland Paving Co was awarded the contract to furnish secondary paving, having submitted a low bid of $1 40 per square yard.

Council took no action on complaints from residents of Helen and Malinak streets who requested sewers and grading and from Charles St. residents who said they need sewers. Parente told the groups:

"The City is doing everything financially possible to provide sewers We can't install sewers everywhere now because we just don't have the money.

"When sufficient money is available, we will lay more sewers where they are needed most"

Money Bills, School Subsidies Key to Legislature Adjournment

HARRISBURG (UP) — Final agreement on the big appropriation bill and a proposed $31,300,000 subsidy to school districts today held the key to early adjournment of the Legislature.

A conference committee of four Republican and two Democratic lawmakers was to hold initial meetings today on the $1,111,043,000 General Appropriations Bill The GOP lawmakers were reportedly instructed by their caucuses to "hold the line" against restoring any cuts to the measure except those upon which general agreement has been reached

This would include a two-million dollar appropriation for the Philadelphia General Hospital. Agreement on that item broke the legislative log jam on non-preferred appropriations in the House.

The school subsidy bill may be the tougher to crack. Some senators objected to the compromise made in the House to meet objections of big-city legislators to the bill

Sen Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) said he was "unalterably opposed" to the bill in its present form

"Pittsburgh lawmakers are complaining because their school district would have to increase the tax rate three-quarters of a mill to meet the new schedule," Pechan said "Some of the school districts in my district would have to increase their tax rates seven or eight mills The bill will have to be changed before I'll support it"

The compromise bill passed by the House earlier this week was regarded as a major victory for the big cities. Their representatives forced the bill back to committee in the House when the first version did not suit them

Thin Work Calendars

Both chambers drove to clear their calendars as rapidly as possible in an effort to wind up the session. Although the lawmakers had announced their intentions to quit by the end of the week, Republican leaders generally conceded the end could not come until sometime next week. How soon generally depends upon the success of conference committees in ironing out the differences on the general appropriations and school subsidy bills.

The House held its traditional closing ceremonies Wednesday night when gifts were presented to the leaders on both sides of the aisles for their efforts during the session.

In the Senate, President Pro-tempore M. Harvey Taylor named Sens. Edward B. Kessler (R-Lancaster); Henry J. Propert (R-Montgomery) and John H Dent (D-Westmoreland) to represent the Senate on the conference committee on the General Appropriations Bill.

Named by House Speaker W Stuart Helm were Majority Leader Albert W Johnson (R-McKean) Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Minority Leader Albert S Readinger (D-Berks).

The Senate pushed through appropriations totaling about two million dollars for various purposes, the major one $1,500,000 for encouragement and development of aeronautics. The Appropriations Committee had cut two million dollars from the original three million dollar appropriation but another revision restored $500,000 of this amount.

Readied for final passage in the Senate were the so-called non-preferred appropriations totaling more than 93 million dollars for state-aided hospitals and universities and other private institutions. However, the Democratic minority in the chamber indicated it may hold up action on these bills pending final action on the general appropriation measure.

Girard Claims U.S. Army Put Pressure on Him

WASHINGTON (UP) — American soldier William S. Girard said in an interview in Japan today U. S. military authorities have put pressure on him to stand trial in a Japanese court for slaying a Japanese woman on an Army firing range.

But Girard flatly denied reports from Washington and his home town of Ottawa, Ill., that he said his personal Army counsel in Japan also had argued that trial in a Japanese court would be an easy way out.

Girard, 21, a specialist 3-c, is accused of killing Mrs. Naka Sakai while guarding a military firing range near Tokyo. She was struck in the back by an empty cartridge fired from a grenade launcher on Girard's rifle.

Girard Claims Accident

The Japanese have charged that Girard enticed Mrs. Sakai, who was trying to pick up empty shells to sell for scrap, to within firing distance and then fired the fatal shot. Girard claimed her death was accidental.

An agreement to turn Girard over to a Japanese court for trial on manslaughter charges touched off an international controversy and his lawyers worked long past midnight in Washington today in an attempt to bring him back to the United States for a review of his case.

Reports that Girard claimed the Army and Maj. Stanley F. Levin, his Army adviser, were putting pressure on him were made in Washington by a spokesman for his attorney, Earl Carroll, and in Ottawa by the soldier's brother, Louis.

"Bill Girard told his brother he had been advised by his Army-appointed adviser Major Levin that he should go before a Japanese court because if he didn't he would get a very suff sentence from the United States under an Army court-martial," John Griffin, Carroll's spokesman, said in Washington.

Makes Tape Recording

Louis Girard said he talked to his brother by telephone Wednesday and that the soldier distinctly answered "yes" to a question about whether Levin was attempting to persuade him to face a Japanese court.

Furthermore, Louis Girard said, he made a tape recording of the transpacific telephone conversation to prove the statements.

But Girard later told the United Press in Japan that Levin had not tried to lure him into a Japanese court.

"Major Levin has been a good friend to me and I can't think of anyone else who could do a better job or take his place," Girard told a U.P. reporter.

Levin also denied he tried to put pressure on Girard.

Investigation Pushed

Confusion over what Girard had said arose amid these developments:

—Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex.), chairman of a House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he would call in Defense Department counsel Robert Dechert and officials of the State Department in an investigation of the Girard case. Burleson said he would question Dechert as soon as possible about his reported statements that evidence gathered by the U.S. government made it "appear" Girard enticed Mrs. Sakai.

—Hidetsuga Onozeki, a 29-year-old Japanese farmer who witnessed the Jan. 30 incident, told the United Press a man he later identified as Girard threw shell casings in front of him and Mrs. Sakai and told the woman in Japanese, "Here is much brass."

The 8th Army has denied that it tried to put pressure on Girard.

"On the contrary," an Army spokesman said in Tokyo, "the Army has been giving him fair and impartial advice with a view to protecting his interests at all times."

Lutheran Church Synod Boosts Annual Salary

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—The Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America prepared to wind up its 20th annual convention here today after voting a minimum $4,000 annual salary for pastors.

The delegates approved the $500 increase, together with expense allowances for major public utilities.

Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, a ULCA delegate, told the convention Wednesday the church was "alert with a sense of expectancy to God's call on its 40th year anniversary."

Dr. Stoughton listed the boards of American and foreign missions, the new church home in New York, an increase in college and university student centers and press, radio and television coverage as five areas in which the church had shown marked advances.

The Lutheran leader, who heads Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, emphasized the need for avoiding compartmentalization in the church. He described the local congregations as "the sources of power" and the synodical agencies as the "arms of the church."

Dr. Stoughton said the problem of recruiting ministers would increase because of increased competition for talent from other professions. He suggested that retired laymen might be given a short training course and used to meet the shortage of clerymen in small parishes.

Another Body Is Pulled from Lake

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — The body of the second of four Washington County men who disappeared on a weekend fishing trip last month has been recovered from Lake Erie.

The decomposed remains of Leslie Pierce, 36, Canonsburg, Pa., were found Wednesday floating a few feet offshore near Lake City. The body of Stanley Vulcer, 36, Lawrence, was recovered last week.

Still missing are John Sklarski, 35, and John Trump, 26, both of Canonsburg.

Stassen Told to Use Care

WASHINGTON (UP)—Disarmament Adviser Harold E. Stassen leaves for London today with instructions to avoid upsetting America's allies and take it easy on private disarmament talks with the Russians.

Because of Allied displeasure over some of Stassen's behind-the-scenes talks with the Russians, diplomats said the new American disarmament plan will not be presented at the London disarmament conference for many days.

On his latest visit here, Stassen has held a series of talks with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He planned to leave Washington this afternoon and New York later in the day.

There was evidence the administration summoned Stassen home from London last week end to smooth out ruffled Allied feelings over his disarmament strategy.

France and some other allies were reported upset when they heard Stassen had given a more elaborate outline of the U.S. disarmament plan to the Russians than he gave this country's European allies.

Talks at Length

Some officials explained Stassen talked at length with Soviet disarmament delegate Valerin Zorin to allay any Soviet idea that delays in the negotiations meant the United States was losing interest.

Dulles, during several conferences with Stassen this week, advised him to deal more closely with the Allies in the future and engage only in "informal" talks with the Russians without referring to possible inclusion of a European area in any air-ground inspection zone. Dulles has said publicly it is up to the Europeans to decide whether their territory should be included in a "first-step" disarmament plan.

In any informal talks with the Russians in London Stassen presumably would talk about problems involved in cutting American-Soviet armed strength as part of a first-step agreement. Officials said there is much work to be done in the "conventional arms" field that would not involve any European air - ground inspecion zone

Cadet Speaks At Kiwanis Club

Cadet Charles Belan, who attends the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, was guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at Slovak Home.

He told of his activities during his first year at the academy and described some of the requirements new students must meet.

Charles Penwick, president, was in charge and Capt. John Connors, of the Salvation Army, asked the invocation.

A directors session followed and a family picnic was one of the future events planned. The District 8 Fun Fest will be held July 16 at the Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Mayflower II Towed to Port

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP)—The Mayflower II sailed into Plymouth harbor today, towed by a Coast Guard tug.

The Coast Guard cutter Yankton tossed a tow line to the Pilgrim replica ship at the harbor entrance.

The two vessels then started to negotiate the winding narrow channel to a mooring site a mile inside the entrance.

The Mayflower originally was expected to tie up at 10:30 a.m. e.d.t. for a huge welcoming ceremony and a re-enactment of the original landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock. However, it appeared the mooring would be delayed.

One slight accident occurred before the mooring. The Yankton ran alongside the historic ship off Jacquish Head to pick up the tow line. At this point the Yankton's stubby mast caught in the ropes of the Mayflower's "sprit-sail"—a square rigged sail under her bow.

Crewmen from both ships clambered into the rigging and pulled the ropes free. After that it was smooth going.

An early morning fog lifted, giving way to overcast skies. The Mayflower's skipper, Capt. Alan Villiers, had hoped to make the entire bay crossing without a tow.

Some of the edge was taken off the Plymouth reception at Provincetown Wednesday. The square-rigged galleon halted there to re-enact the signing of the Mayflower Compact, just as the founding fathers did 336 years ago, and was virtually commandeered by eager tourists.

Towed To Port

Coast Guard cutters circling the 92-foot craft were unable to pry away an excursion boat hugging the side of the official committee launch next to the Mayflower II.

The Mayflower II, exact replica of the original, lurched into Provincetown at the end of a 50-yard tow line from the Coast Guard cutter Yankton. Fifteen to 20-foot swells pitched the tiny craft.

"It bothered me a little," Villiers said, "to come in on a tow line. But it would have bothered me more to be out there battling those winds."

Villiers was high in praise for his 32-man crew. He said:

"The Lord was with us during the trip and the ship handled very well."

Boat Business Booms

Despite rolling seas some 20 private and excursion boats ventured beyond the Provincetown harbor to escort the colorful vessel.

Boat owners did a booming business ferrying rubbernecks out to the Mayflower II. Prices ranged up to $5 a head.

The scene ashore was as jumbled as it was in the water. The Mayflower II, sailing out of another era, was escorted by a U.S. Navy destroyer, mid-20th Century vintage. Overhead a jet fighter screamed by, dipping its wings in salute.

Ashore Pilgrim - costumed local residents shuffled between beauties in Bermuda shorts. There was even an Indian chief in full tribal dress.

Bible School to Hold Program

The closing program for the Daily Vacation Bible School at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, will be held on Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the church, Reed Ave.

The program will include songs and characterizations of Bible people of whom the group studied these past two weeks.

Certificates will be presented to children at the close of the program and refreshments will be served in the dining hall at the church. Handcraft projects made by the students will also be on display in the recreation rooms.

PROVINCETOWN AHEAD — Plodding the final sea miles from England, the Mayflower II (foreground) pushes leisurely toward Provincetown, Mass., as the Coast Guard training ship Eagle comes out to meet her.

OK Funds for Start On Kinzua Dam Work

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Apropriations Committee today recommended appropriation of one million dollars to start construction of the Kinzua dam and reservoir, the long-proposed Allegheny River flood control project above Warren, Pa.

The initial funds for the controversial 100 million dollar dam-reservoir were included in a long list of public works projects for which the House committee urged appropriation for fiscal 1958.

The Kinzua appropriation was included despite a slash of more than 61 million dollars in the Eisenhower Administration's public works program.

The committee recommendation for the Allegheny River reservoir was among 11 construction and planning projects, totaling more than 11 million dollars, for Pennsylvania.

The House Appropriations subcommittee on Public Works conducted hearings last month on the Kinzua project which was described by GOP Rep Leon H Gavin, of Oil City, as the "key to the whole flood control program" in the Allegheny River valley.

Pennsylvania Sens. Edward Martin and Joseph S. Clark both appeared in support of the dam along with Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and other Western Pennsylvania civic, industrial-business, and municipal organization representatives.

Opposition to the dam was voiced by the Seneca Indians, sportsmen's groups, and others who protested seizure of a part of the Seneca tribe's reservation and contended the reservoir would destroy recreation resources of the Allegheny watershed

Prisoner Walks Away from Court, Probation Officer

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A prisoner walked away from Criminal Court Wednesday when a probation officer left him alone to go to other offices for jail commitment papers.

"We must plug this loophole somehow," chief probation officer Edward G. Burbank declared.

The prisoner, Roy Kemmet, was arrested by police for violating a one-year probationary term imposed in 1955. Court officials said he failed to report.

While a probation officer went from the fifth floor to the first to get the necessary papers, Kemmet told his fellow prisoners "I'm going to get out of here." He calmly walked away.

Last Saturday a prisoner from Western State Penitentiary escaped from two deputy sheriffs while attending a funeral for his uncle. The deputies removed his handcuffs to permit Gilbert Walters, 29, a private conference with his mother. The prisoner slipped out a back door.

Basic Questions on U. S. Soldiers, Rights

WASHINGTON (UP) — Does an American soldier take all his U.S. constitutional rights with him overseas? That is the basic question raised by the furor over the case of Army Specialist 3-c William S. Girard.

If the U.S. courts rule that he does, he won't be admitted to many countries, the government says, and the United States will have to close down its vital overseas bases and bring the boys home.

If the courts permit international agreements which deny GI Joe his American constitutional rights, reply attorneys for Girard and some sympathetic congressmen, a dangerous step toward executive dictatorship and watering down of American freedoms will have been taken.

These are the weighty issues which make the Girard case more important than the fate of one young soldier.

Girard's lawyers and some congressmen have expanded their attack on the administration's decision to turn him over to a Japanese court for a manslaughter trial. They are now challenging the constitutionality of the "status of forces" agreements the administration's acted.

Earl J. Carroll, Girard's chief counsel, said he will contend in federal district court here Friday that "a soldier or other person acting in an official capacity abroad is a representative of the government of the United States and is entitled to the same immunity that is enjoyed by the sovereignty of the United States. In other words, he stands in the position of the government itself. The principal is responsible for the acts of the individual."

The government contends that neither a soldier nor a civilian of any country has any rights or immunities in a foreign country except those given him by the host country.

"An American retains when he goes abroad only those rights which a foreign nation expressly grants him," a State Department official said. This is true of diplomats, soldiers, civilian officials or tourists—in this country or abroad.

Lebanon: Bright Hope

LEBANON is a country which most Americans do not know very much about. They should. For small though it is in area and population, it is one of the bright hopes for progress and peace in the Middle East.

The recent parliamentary election in Lebanon furnished a timely demonstration of the maturity and balance of its people. They rebuffed determined bids by both the Communist trouble-makers and the Arab hotheads whose new mecca is in Cairo. And they returned a parliament which will keep Lebanon on the side of democracy and freedom in the struggle with Communism and on the side of moderation in the difficulties peculiar to the Middle East.

Needless to say, this result is a pointed rebuke to the Egyptian dictator, Nasser. And it represents a powerful contribution to the new pro-Western alignment which is developing in the Arab world, thanks in part to the Eisenhower administration's wise diplomacy.

* * *

LEBANON is an interesting and attractive little country. It is about half Moslem and half Christian, and its religious division is the key factor in its political life.

Agriculturally the country is poor — its geography makes that inevitable. But it has astute merchants, and its capital city, Beirut, is a busy and progressive city, as cosmopolitan as almost any of the capitals of Europe.

The rate of literacy in Lebanon is higher than in any other Arab country. And the American University in Beirut is an institution of high standards which exerts a profound modernizing influence all over the Middle East.

Lebanon, in short, is a nation which deserves the confidence of its friends, including the United States, and the respect of all nations. And it will be surprising if its example of stability and progress does not make an increasingly important contribution to the development of the whole Middle East.

Civilian Supremacy

SOMEHOW we always feel reassured when a legal controversy which involves the relationship between military and civilian authorities in this country is decided on the principle of civilian supremacy.

It has turned out this way again in the U. S. Supreme Court's decision that the Army erred in trying by court-martial two American women who killed their soldier husbands while all were living overseas where the husbands were on military duty.

This ruling reverses a 1956 Supreme Court decision to the contrary. And it invalidates the court-martial proceedings in which the women were convicted.

We do not like to see anybody who kills his spouse unjustifiably escape a penalty. And that may happen in these cases since the women have returned to this country and are no longer in the jurisdiction of the civil authorities in Germany and Japan, where the husbands were stationed when they were killed.

But military courts are part of the military system of justice. And this differs in important respects from our constitutional system.

Traditionally we have resisted efforts to extend military jurisdiction over civilians. This was one of the guiding principles of the founding fathers, who had had some hard experiences with justice as dispensed by King George's officers.

We hope our courts will always decide borderline cases in favor of civilian authority. When they don't, we will have cause for worry.

Two Needed Laws

TWO VERY important bills are working into good position for final passage by the legislature at Harrisburg. We refer to those companion measures popularly known as the "open meetings" and "open records" bills.

The first would require most public bodies at the state and local levels to transact their business only in meetings open to the public. The other calls for open records in most state and local public offices.

The "open meetings" bill has been passed by both houses with large majorities and has been returned to the Senate for concurrence in amendments adopted by the House.

The "open records" bill has been passed by the House and has been favorably reported by a Senate committee. Senate action is expected shortly.

Approval of this legislation will be a lasting contribution to better government in Pennsylvania. The rapid multiplication of governmental boards, commissions, authorities and the like has made it more difficult than ever for newspapers and other information media to keep the public adequately informed about the conduct of the public's own business.

The problem is increased when such agencies are not required to meet in public and when records are not available for public inspection.

Merry-Go-Round—

U. S. 'Curtain' Is Tighter Than Russia's

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lyndon Johnson's statesmanlike proposal that we try out an exchange of television and other cultural projects with Russia focuses attention on whether Khrushchev is right or wrong about an American "iron curtain."

Mr. Pearson

The Communist Party boss, when he faced the nation over CBS, claimed the United States had blocked cultural exchanges. He called for widespread cultural exchange, in brief the lifting of the "American iron curtain."

Careful investigation at the State Department indicates that Khrushchev is right.

The official policy of the United States, as announced by President Eisenhower at the Geneva summit conference, is people-to-people friendship behind the Iron Curtain. However, this policy is a long way from being carried out, and those responsible are partly the State Department, partly Congress for erecting red tape — especially fingerprinting.

Exchange Refused

Here are the facts:

Within a month after Ike announced the people-to-people friendship policy in 1955, the Hutchinson (Kans.) News proposed an exchange of wheat farmers with Russia, similar to the exchange of Russian-American farmers which chiefly concentrated on the farm belt. The State Department said no.

In 1956, Romania, another Iron Curtain country, asked to send an agricultural delegation to the United States. The State Department, after considerable palaver, admitted only one Romanian farm expert. He wanted to come for 90 days. The State Department cut him down to 60 days.

Finally he came, toured the Middle West, bought several million dollars' worth of seed corn and farm machinery, then asked to remain 30 days longer. The State Department refused. He departed immediately.

Yet the exchange of farmers in the summer of 1955 had resulted in acting Agriculture Minister Matskevich broadcasting over the Voice of America from Washington to tell the Russian people that the American people were their friends. The Soviet government has been spending several million dollars a year to jam the Voice of America so such messages could not be heard. Yet a member of the Soviet cabinet was permitted to say this over the Voice of America.

Fingerprinting Roadblock

Since then, the people-to-people friendship campaign has been in the hands of mustachioed William Lacey, a career diplomat who did an excellent job as Ambassador to Korea and is now trying to promote cultural exchange.

It took three days for this writer to persuade Mr. Lacey to answer his telephone, so it may not be easy for the Russians to reach him either. However, Mr. Lacey, when finally available, admitted that cultural exchange is not going too well with Russia. It is going better with Poland and the satellite countries.

Chief obstacle is fingerprinting. The Russians flatly refuse to come to the USA if they are to be fingerprinted. This, they say, is the sign of a police state. Exactly this, however, is required by Congress, and, although the State Department asked Congress to change the law, key Congressman Francis Walter (D. Pa.) has been vigorously opposed.

The FBI, according to State Department officials, has been most cooperative, does not oppose USA-USSR cultural exchange as a danger to U. S. security.

Ballet Barred

Fingerprinting, however, has blocked the famed Moscow Ballet from visiting the U. S. also the Moyseev Ensemble, a group of folk singers.

Eddie Dowling, well-known actor and producer, has gone to Moscow three times to arrange for the Moscow Ballet to come to Washington. Sol Hurok has been there twice, and Billy Rose has also negotiated for an American tour of the famous ballet. But the State Department has refused to waive fingerprinting, and the Moscow Ballet refuses to submit to what it calls the humiliation of police-state techniques.

State Department figures show that practically no students have been exchanged between the United States and Russia. On the other hand, some 17,000 students visited Russia from Europe and Asia last year, and about 100,000 tourists went there last summer. "Porgy and Bess" also toured Russia from the United States and was wildly acclaimed everywhere.

Unquestionably the Russian Iron Curtain has been partly lowered. The American curtain is much harder to penetrate.

The custom of allowing orchestra musicians to be absent from a rehearsal if they sent other players to take their places prevailed in London until 1890.

'Not There, Fellas, Over Here!'

Today and Tomorrow—

To Trade or not to Trade?

By WALTER LIPPMANN

At the two ends of the Communist world, in Poland and in China, the same question has now been posed. Is it right or is it wrong, is it wise or is it unwise, to open intercourse through the Iron Curtain?

Mr. Lippmann

With Poland we have decided to open it up, and have gone so far as to negotiate an agreement to furnish economic aid. In China, our policy is still one of non-intercourse, and for our part to maintain an embargo and a boycott. But in this we are now alone among the leading powers of the world, and there is mounting opposition to the policy in this country. In fact, last week the President said that personally, though not yet as President, he was in favor of at least some freedom of trade with China.

There are in all this two main schools of thought. The one holds that rather than open up we should close down, that the best way to deal with Communist states is, as nearly as it is possible to do so, to put them in quarantine. The less contact with Communist regimes, the better. Insofar as there is trade, it is the Communists who benefit. Insofar as there is there is diplomatic and cultural intercourse, it is the Communists who will seduce and subvert the non-Communists. The Iron Curtain which was set up by the Communists to seal themselves off from the capitalistic and democratic world is in fact essential to security of the democratic and capitalistic world. Those who favor the quarantine policy would like to see the world divided into two closed systems. Then from behind the Iron Curtain each would bombard the other with propaganda.

The Other Argument

The other school holds that Russia and China, instead of being weakened, grow stronger in the long run insofar as they are quarantined. The real effect of the trade restrictions and the embargoes has been equivalent to erecting around them an enormously high tariff wall which compels them to develop their own industries and to make themselves self-sufficient. This is costly. It may compel them to move more slowly. But once the price has been paid the quarantined country is in a very strong position.

This applies to big countries like Russia and China. Smaller countries, like Poland, cannot hope to become self-sufficient. On them the effect of the quarantine policy is to make them wholly dependent upon the Soviet Union. For that reason, those of us who oppose the quarantine policy contend that the wise thing to do is to give a country like Poland an alternative, to break the Soviet monopoly as a supplier of Poland's essential needs.

We contend also that while an embargo on the China trade does slow up somewhat the industrialization of China, it does not slow it up very much. On the other hand whatever good that slowing up does it is more than offset by leaving China with no alternative except to lean wholly upon the Soviet Union.

Would it not be better, we say, to let China have intercourse with the outer world, and thus to encourage China to play the role of a more independent power?

It is important to say, I think, that neither policy, that of restriction or of openness, will have quick or dramatic results. Restrictions and embargoes may have troubled the Russians and the Chinese. But the Communist power in the world continues to grow. It has not declined. On the other hand, we must not expect that opening up trade and cultural exchanges will have the kind of spectacular results which the Vice-president, in his otherwise excellent speech on Polish aid, seemed to mean when he spoke of "the explosive power of freedom."

What we might hope for is not an explosion which, like that in Hungary, would be for us a humiliation and for all the world a tragedy. What we might hope for rather is an attrition through exposure to freedom, a gradual wearing down of the totalitarian character of the Polish regime, and the healing effects of more light and more air.

The Woman's View—

Golf Widows Advised

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Hubby leaving you at the sink while he's on the links? "Don't fight him, join him," said Mrs. Jimmy Thomson, wife of the veteran golfing "pro."

Mrs. Thomson, 42 a native of Pasadena, Calif., said this not only will prevent golf widowhood. It will improve the feminine figure.

"Golf build muscles? Only in the right places," she added.

Mrs. Thomson conceded that at present she isn't following her own advice. She is golf widowing while her husband, who won several tournaments including the Melbourne Centenary, is in Toledo, Ohio for the $50,000 National Open.

She explained that two small children—Carol, 8, and Jimmy Jr., 4—keep her both off the tournament circuit and off the courses near the couple's home at Garden City, N.Y. But only until the children get a little older.

Apparently more wives are following Mrs. Thomson's advice.

The National Golf Foundation, Chicago said the number of women players has shown a "sizeable increase" in recent years. It estimated there are 650,000 women who play at least 10 times a year; probably 100,000 more who play less frequently.

But this is a small percentage of the estimated 5 million golfing devotees.

"I took up golf in self-defense," said the attractive Mrs. Thomson. "Jimmy gave me my first lessons. But one day when he lost his patience and shouted, 'Hit the bloody thing!' I changed pros."

Her husband, 49, still plays professional golf, although he is not in the National Open, and travels the tournament circuit as a representative of Spaulding sports equipment.

Many wives accompany their husbands, even with their tots in tow. Mrs. Thomson said. Others do as she currently is doing—keeping busy with house and garden.

France Creates New Post: Sahara Minister

By CHARLES M. McCANN

France has taken an important step in its new long-range African policy by creating a new cabinet post—"Minister for Sahara."

It means that one minister is to be given responsibility for a vast area of the Sahara Desert which some day may rival the Middle East as a source of oil, the life-blood of modern industry.

Mr. McCann

Maurice Bouges-Mounoury, who hopes to be confirmed as premier in the French National Assembly, included the post in his list of cabinet members.

For years, France has quietly been exploring the natural resources of its Sahara Desert region.

Rich In Resources

This region comprises more than 1,600,000 square miles— more than half the area of the continental United States—in southern Algeria and the northern parts of French West Africa and French Equatorial Africa.

Proved resources include oil, coal, natural gas, iron, copper, manganese and tin.

If France can keep this territory, its importance is obvious.

The oil alone would give France a great measure of independence, if not complete independence, of Middle Eastern production.

Oil exploration has been conducted by big private companies and the government, working together, since 1947.

It was not until early this year, however, that the real potential value of the oil resources became generally known.

New Company Formed

It was announced in January that the Sahara could fill all of France's need for oil within 15 years.

French banking interests announced in March the formation of a "French Company of the Sahara" — Compagnie Francaise Du Sahara — to start exploitation of oil and other mineral resources.

Drilling for the commercial production of oil in the southern Algerian part of the Sahara region was started in May.

The fact that France is going into mineral exploitation in a big way indicates its determination to hang on at all costs to the territory involved, including Algeria where revolt has reached a new peak of savagery.

At the same time, French leaders are trying to insure that French West Africa and French Equatorial Africa will be contented parts of the French Union, as the empire now is called.

The Sahara could put France back in its position of one of the world's major powers.

Eisenhower Using One Of Coolidge's Devices

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower picked one right out of the Coolidge bag of tricks when he joined a platoon of House Republicans at a White House breakfast.

Mr. Wilson

It will be a Coolidge trick, however, minus some of the Coolidge trimmings such as scavenging dogs. Way back there in the boom time 1920s, President Coolidge's breakfasts were frequent, famous and positive puzzlers to his guests. Rarely did they ever learn why they were invited.

Eisenhower, recovered from his stomach upset, is having the House Republicans in to make friends and influence people. Congressional Republicans have been complaining that they have had too little contact with the President. The breakfasts are to mend presidential political fences.

Calvin Was Lonesome

Not so the Coolidge breakfasts. Ike Hoover indicates in his memoirs that Coolidge played breakfast host mostly because he was lonesome and wanted to talk. We used to write of Coolidge as "silent Cal" but it was a misnomer. Coolidge was the talky type.

Hoover for 42 years was chief White House usher. On retirement, he wrote that Coolidge used the breakfast technique more than presidents who preceded him. Ike Hoover believed Coolidge's enthusiasm for White House entertaining largely was grounded on knowledge that Congress shortly before had authorized a White House entertainment expense account.

Coolidge always had mixed parties, Republicans and Democrats, and could charge costs off to official entertainment. Eisenhower had only Republicans today and, presumably, must pick up the tab for a one-party affair.

A Simple Diversion

"They were simply one of his diversions," Ike Hoover wrote of the Coolidge breakfasts. "He would have one whenever the notion presented itself and many times on very short notice. Often we had to seek guests at midnight.

"Generally he would ask members of both parties and the meal was charged to 'official entertaining.' Many of the Democrats and even some of the Republicans would hesitate about accepting. They did not like the early hour, eight o'clock.

"With few exceptions the breakfasts seemed to have little objective. In fact, we frequently heard a guest inquire upon leaving: 'Why did he have us here'? The question would go unanswered."

If there is a lesson in all of this for Eisenhower, it may be that the breakfast hour should accommodate itself to the habits of congressional politicians rather than to the early rising custom of a military man or a New England politician.

And the President should not some among his guests. Coolidge did not do that. The old timers here recall that Coolidge's suddenly summoned breakfast huddles caused much news excitement and speculation at the time. But they really did not amount to much.

Installation Held By C. D. of A. Here

The installation of officers for the Senior Court Monessen Catholic Daughters of America was held Tuesday evening at the St. Leonard Parish Hall at 5:30 o'clock.

Anna L. Danko was installed Grand Regent and those installed with her were Margaret Venneri, vice regent; Elizabeth Piccharini, prophetess; Cecilia Kasper, lecturer; Mary Chelen, financial secretary; Mary Ann D'Alonzo, treasurer; Imogene Panetti, historian; Jo Marie Stanek, monitor; Dorothy Lape, sentinel; Lillian Cavalli, organist; Betty Veschio and Doris Moussiaux, three year trustees; Margaret Wilkins and Dora Ranallo, two year trustees, Barbara Keim and Katherine Kirsch, one year trustees.

Installing Officer

Mrs. Mary McGinty, of Monongahela, was the installing officer.

After the installation there was a dinner served at the Park Casino with more than 100 in attendance. Garden flowers and centerpieces of red roses were used in the decorations. Invocation was given by the Rev Joseph Gajdosik, of Holy Name Church.

During the after dinner program, Mary Ann D'Alonzo extended the welcome and introduced the toastmaster, Louise Treater. Greetings to the newly installed officers were given by District Deputy Mrs. McGinty. The Rev. J L Conway was the guest speaker and his subject was "True Catholic Daughters".

Also taking part in the program were Father Gajdosik and Grand Regent Anna L Danko.

Mrs. D'Alonzo, retiring Grand Regent, presented gifts to the outgoing officers and guests. Retiring officers were Betty Keznor, Helen Selepchak and Katherine McAlpine.

Gifts Given

Mrs. D'Alonzo was then presented with gifts from the court and from the officers.

June and July birthdays were observed. The Rev Theodore Benkovic gave the benediction.

Officers and guests were present from Belle Vernon, Charleroi, Donora, Bentleyville and Monongahela.

Birthday awards were presented to Mary Galaski and Angeline Bosco. Door prizes were awarded to Thelma Bonafed, Betty Keznor and Helen Pfiester.

In charge of the installation were Louise Treater, chairman, Gloria Mahalko and Rose Kress, co-chairmen. They were assisted by Gladys Carney, Loretta George, Felicia Giovognoria, Irene Hulick, Mildred Janosik, Donna Lee Manderino, Evelyn Young, Antoinette Zdilla, Mary Moncini, Julie Moskola, Lucy Newhouse, Anna C. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartolozzi
(Elizabeth Ann Smith)

Smith-Bartolozzi Nuptials Solemnized at St. Sebastian

Wed in St. Sebastian R. C. Church of Belle Vernon on Saturday morning, June 8, were Elizabeth Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, of Fayette City R. D., and Frank Bartolozzi, of Dunlevy.

The double ring ceremony was read along with a nuptial high mass at 9 30 o'clock with the Rev. David L. Fisher, assistant church pastor, officiating. White gladiolus and ferns decorated the altar and the aisle used by the bridal party was lined with white crash. Family pews were marked with bows of white ribbon. Mrs. Michael Yencsik, church organist, sang the responses to the mass and played the nuptial music.

Wears White

Wearing a floor length gown of imported crystal silk over taffeta, the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was styled with a fitted bodice, bateau neckline trimmed in imported French lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. A row of tiny self covered buttons trimmed the back and the long sleeves ended in points at the wrist. The bouffant skirt was made with a deep insert of lace accented with pearl and sequin trim and formed a long court train. A queen crown of pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of sheer illusion and she carried an orchid atop a white covered Prayer Book.

Patricia Smith, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a poudre blue floor length gown of nylon over taffeta with a fitted strapless bodice, a full skirt and matching stole. A floral headpiece completed her attire and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses tinted with blue.

Carol Bartolozzi, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of yellow nylon and was styled identically to that worn by the maid of honor. She wore a matching headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, yellow tinted.

Michael Dooley, of Dunlevy, was best man and William Nicolai, of Dulevy, was usher.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, wore a poudre blue linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Bartolozzi, mother of the bridegroom, wore a printed silk dress with white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Mrs. Isabelle Smith, the bride's paternal grandmother, was also present. She wore a light blue silk dress with white accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

A wedding dinner for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents. The reception was held in the evening at the Garibaldi lodge in Dunlevy. Pink, blue and white streamers were used in the decorations and a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the bridal table. Music for dancing was by the Polka Aires.

The bride was graduated from Bellmar High School with the class of 1956 and is employed at the G. C. Murphy Co. in Charleroi. Her husband was graduated from Charleroi High School in 1953 and works at the Allenport Plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. They will reside in Dunlevy.

The rehearsal party was held at the home of the bride's parents on Friday evening.

Presbyterian Guild Plans Annual Tea

A tea will be held by the Presbyterian Guild of the First Presbyterian Church next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church social rooms.

The speaker will be Miss Rena Westra, a mission worker in Thailand, who has been at work in foreign missions more than 20 years. In 1936 she went to Canton, China and became the director of nurses at Hackett Medical Center. As well as serving as administrator who also taught nursing.

In 1951 she went to McCormick Hospital in Thailand. It is located at Chiengmai and from there she sent word home that although 99 girls are now studying nursing there, it is still not a popular profession.

Mrs. Walter Gemmill, Guild president, will preside and Mrs. Paul Frazzitta will be devotional leader.

Leaders of all three circles will be in charge of the tea.

Holy Name Confraternity Plans Summer Program

The Confraternity of Christian Mothers of the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church met last night and discussed plans for the summer program of activities. The Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, spiritual adviser, conducted the opening.

The president, Mrs. Margaret Zubic, conducted the business session. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Mary Sassak, secretary and Mrs. Anna Buchko, treasurer.

An invitation was read to members to attend the silver jubilee of three Monessen women, who are nuns. Their 25 years of service will be marked by the Vincentian Sisters of Charity with a solemn high mass at 10 a m, Sunday, June 23 at St. Vincent Hill, Pittsburgh. The nuns marking the anniversary of their religious profession are Sister Mary Paschal (Mary Roman), Sister Mary Jerome (Anna Molnar) and Sister Mary Olivia (Ann Graber).

Plan Picnic

Plans were also completed for the annual picnic to be held on June 30th, at the Holy Name picnic grounds. Mrs. Natalie Zdilla will be chairman with Mrs. Barbara Shosky as co-chairman. A large committee has been named to assist with this affair, which will be open to the public.

Preliminary plans were also discussed for a bazaar to be held Oct. 3, 4, 5 and 6 in the Church Hall on Reed Ave. Mrs. Mary Stofan was named chairman with Mrs. Mary Bartus and Mrs. Sue Martin, co-chairmen.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Kay Sabolcheck, Ann Tomaskovic, Sue Uhrin, Lillian Tesack, Mary Tesack, Mary Stofan and Mildred Sobchak.

Slovak Ladies Auxiliary Sets Summer Picnic

At a recent meeting of the Slovak Ladies Auxiliary it was voted not to have regular meetings in July and August. The regular sessions will be resumed in September, but the date will be announced since the regular date would be Labor Day.

A picnic in the form of a covered dish dinner has been set for Aug. 19 with Mrs. Joseph Galaski and Mrs. Anna Sassak as chairman and co-chairman. They will contact the women concerning the menu.

The Park-Ettes Are Entertained Last Night

The Park-Ettes were entertained at the Park Casino last night with Betty Uhal as hostess. Guest for the evening was Sofia Kelly.

Card prizes were won by Ethel Zubritsky and Stella Alessio. Other prizes were won by Pauline Capozza and Sofia Kelly.

Luncheon was served and Bertha Patrick was named next hostess.

LOCALS

District boys home for the summer vacation from their studies at Pontifical College Josephinum, Worthington, Ohio are James Picchiarini, John Musial, John Zdilla and Edward Pasterick, all of Monessen, and John Sack, of Belle Vernon.

Miss Bessie Johnson, of Clarksburg, W. Va., is visiting in Monessen with relatives, including two brothers, Pierce and Carl Johnson. She is staying at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Kiefer, and family on Marion Ave.

The Rev. and Mrs. M. N. Joensuu and Charles Palomaki are representing St. Luke Evangelical Church at the annual convention of the Suomi Synod, which is in session in Hancock, Mich. until June 21.

There will be no swimming for the girl's recreation classes today and tomorrow, but on Monday all girls are asked to report at the Junior High pool at noon according to announcement by Donice Krepps, instructor.

The Fellowship Class of the First Methodist Church will meet on Friday evening, June 21, at 7:30 in the church social rooms. There will be a Dutch treat social after the session.

Julius R. Conti, of Park Plan, a pharmacist at the Thrift Drug Co., is a patient in Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg. He is undergoing observation.

J. M. Elgort, local tailor, attended a dinner meeting of the Custom Tailors and Designers Association last night at the Penn Sheraton Hotel, Pittsburgh.

Lois Pore, student at Emma Willard School, Troy, N. Y., is home for the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R Pore, Jr., of Graham Ave.

Jim Holiday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mancinelli, of Knox Ave., a student at Westminster College, is home for the summer vacation.

The Three L Class of the First Baptist Church will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Francis Lowe, Oneida St. and the co-hostess will be Mary Igoe.

The Gaylarettes Are Entertained By Mrs. Bettis

The Gaylarettes met at the home of Mrs. Francis Bettis, Morgan Ave., Friday night. Prayer led by Mrs. Ruby Crawley opened the session.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held at City Park in the near future.

The next meeting will be held on Friday at the home of Mrs Bernadine Turner.

Eleanor G. Sulek, J. E. Burrows Wed

Exchanging nuptial vows on Tuesday morning, June 11, in St. Thomas Aquinas Church of California, were Eleanor Grace Sulek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sulek, of California and James E Burrows. He is the son of Mrs. Madeline Burrows, of 327 Speer St., Belle Vernon.

Yellow majestic daisies were used for the decoration of the church and the vows were recited before the church pastor, the Rev. J. Herbert Cost. There was no mass and an organ prelude preceded the service, which took place at 10:30 o'clock.

Entering the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a white rose embroidered organdy gown with a mandarin collar, fitted bodice and full skirt, which was styled ballerina length. Her shoulder length veil was held by a matching cap with a teardrop pearl on her forehead. Her bridal bouquet was of white marguerite daisies.

Honor Attendant

Maid of honor was Rose Alfano, of California, who selected a ballerina length gown of white embroidered organdy accented with yellow and worn over yellow taffeta. The skirt was styled with an apron effect peplum and the fitted bodice had a scalloped V neckline. She wore a matching headband with a brief veil and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

The bridesmaid was Dorothy Burrows, of Belle Vernon, sister of the bridegroom. She was attired in an ensemble styled identically to that of the honor attendant only in pink and white. Her flowers were pink daisies.

Eugene W. Sulek, brother of the bride, of California, was best man and the usher was Donald Winstone, of Monessen.

The mother of the bride selected a navy blue and pink print dress with white accessories and a white daisy corsage. Mrs. Burrows chose a blue dress with white accessories and white daisy corsage.

After the ceremony there was a dinner at Rego's in Charleroi for about 70 guests. White, pink and yellow were the colors used in the decorations. A three tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells centered the bridal table.

Out of Town Guests

Out of town guests were from New Jersey, Levittown, Charleroi, Pittsburgh, Monessen, West Newton, Donora, Coopersburg, Greensburg, Jeannette, California, Coal Center and Belle Vernon.

After an undisclosed wedding trip the couple will reside at Seneca Heights, Jeannette.

The bride was graduated from California State Teachers College and California High School. She is presently a teacher in the Seneca Heights Elementary School in Jeannette. Mr. Burrows, a graduate of Vernon High School, is employed at the Westinghouse Bettis Field Plant.

The evening preceding the ceremony there was a rehearsal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Neil, 830 Speer St., Belle Vernon, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom. The bride and groom exchanged gifts and remembered their attendants with gifts.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed in the pastel wedding shades.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trona, Donora, a son, 8 pounds, 10 ounces, June 7, at 4:07 p. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Norma Hornbake Is Hostess to Inkle Members

Norma Hornbake, of Lynnwood, was hostess to the members of the Inkle Club at her home on Tuesday evening.

Two tables of cards were in play and those winning high score awards were Marge Pilarcik, Hester Crosser and Mabel Popp, who won the traveling award.

Luncheon was served and Lois Vitale was named next hostess. She will entertain at Rego's in Charleroi.

The Montonions Are Entertained By Mrs Taylor

Mrs. Delcie Taylor entertained the Montonions at her home on Saturday. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Taylor, president.

At the close of the session luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her sister, Mrs. Marie White.

Plans were made for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Nellis Williams, Lookout Ave.

City Bowlers Had Quite a Year

The city's feminine bowlers had quite a year. To begin with the Fifth Avenue team won the Mon Valley League title, then copped the Metropolitan Tournament for the third straight year. By so doing the Monessen team laid undisputed claim to the title: champion of the entire Pittsburgh district. Two city bowlers, Mary Palm and Babe Kroskie, also played for the Jacktown team, which won the Starlet League title. They were members of the Turner Hall team, too, along with Pauline Burdock. Monessen came in first in the regional Turners tournament . . . The PIAA has recommended (not ruled) that basketball officials do not work two games in the some night from now on.

Tony Mascetta, former manager of the Monessen Ozarks, is headed for his summer tour of duty with the Air Force . . . Incidentally Mascetta maintains there's nothing wrong with the Ozark pitching staff even though Bill Mitnick has been the only consistent winner. "The pitching is okay," reasons Mascetta, "it's the fielding that needs attention. Both John Stetsko and Myron Sepitko have lost recent games they should have won. Sloppy fielding is holding the Ozarks down, not inadequate pitching." . . . Mascetta seems to have a point there.

Next Meeting of Principals June 18

The next meeting of valley high school principals will take place on June 18 in Monongahela. At that time, the proposed new constitution for the Big Six Football Conference will be discussed. Three valley schools — Monessen, Monongahela and Donora — have definitely accepted the document. Until Charleroi and Brownsville take formal action, the principals will hold tight on their plan to sponsor a "press conference" for the purpose of explaining the new constitution . . . The Dodgers lost that game to Cincinnati, 3-0 . . . Despite rumors to the contrary, all varsity coaches will be the same at Derry Area next school year. The Board of Education recently hired the entire corps with a blanket motion that carried by a 12-2 vote . . . Baseball is expensive nowadays. It costs more than $30 to stage every Mon Valley League tussle. And that's not counting uniform costs.

Seems We Missed Some Dentists!

The other day we reported that no less than four city dentists were athletes at Monessen High back in the days when the recently retired Stewart Townsend controlled the football and basketball teams. That item prompted this comment from one of the dentists, former basketball standout Dr. Jay Hutchinson: "You missed Dr. Hubert Maxwell, who also played for Towney. And offhand I can think of nine other former Townsend athletes who became dentists. All five of the Rosenthal boys entered dentistry. So did Paul Johnson, Harold Lightfoot, Joe Farquhar and my younger brother Paul. When you think of it, it's truly fantastic how many of Towney's boys became professional men. It's a real tribute to him."

Lonesome Man Frank Stranahan Tees Off

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—The most lonesome man in the world teed off today in the first round of the U S Open golf championship

That would be Frankie Stranahan And to look at him, you have to figure he has everything — health, wealth and the kiss of the gods

But this is the sternest test ever faced by the kid from Toledo.

A good golfer, Frank Stranahan And, whether you listen to the stories of his harum-scarum growing up, or not, a fine fellow. He has a beautiful wife, a fortune in the bank and a bouncing 2-year-old son. He is, you might say, a man with everything

Played At 12

Yet Frank Stranahan grew up within five miles of the Inverness course where they started the Open today. At the tender age of 12 he played his first round over these rolling acres. That's a matter of some 22 years ago, this muscular blond being 34 now.

His father is the wealthy and influential R A. Stranahan, founder of the Champion spark plug empire. R. A., as the old man is known, was the Ohio senior champion and, for many years, the president of this same Inverness club Frank's step - brother, Jim Lewis, was the district champion The club pro at that time, a man named Byron Nelson, was the Ohio Open champion.

All of this instilled in young Frank, at an early age, the desire to be a champion golfer.

It was an ambition inspired and fostered by his dad, for R. A. was a man who never considered or accepted defeat. He battled mightily, in the business bazaars and at the legal bar, to build and protect his empire. From a lean start, he founded a gigantic industrial empire.

So it stood to reason that when young Frankie showed an early interest in golf, R. A. decided that his son was going to be a champion.

Won Amateur Twice

He was, and is. Frank won the British Amateur twice, and a lot of other tournaments. But, despite all his wealth, he decided several years ago to make his own way in life and turn professional.

"If I'm going to spend my life in golf," he said, "then I must make a living out of it."

It horrified the family, one of the Toledo 400.

Yet it is to Frankie's credit that he wasn't swerved. Still, as they teed off today in the Open, over a course which heard his baby wails, the handsome blond man is on a terrific spot. Everybody in the area knows him and expects great things of him. They figure that if he is ever going to be worth a pinch of snuff he has to win it this time around on a course which he has known from childhood

No-Hitter in B. Vernon Loop

The first no-hitter of the Belle Vernon Junior League season was turned in yesterday.

Richie Osborne turned the trick as the Apaches ripped the Bankers, 10-0. He fanned ten and helped his own cause with a double.

Cro-Ams Top ULBA In Softball

The Cro-Ams had no trouble holding on to the City Softball League lead last night, slamming ULBA, 11-3.

Stush Nickolich pitched steady nine hit ball as he coasted to the triumph.

Harpo Selelyo led the Cro-Ams hitters with a pair of safeties. Ernie Lattanzio chipped in with a round-tripper.

Ray Mattozzi, playing his first game for ULBA, had three hits for the losers.

Tonight's City League attraction will send the Ravens against PNA.

Park Service Wins 'Wildest' Little Loop Tilt

The wildest game in Monessen Little League history was played yesterday between Park Service and Page Local.

The Park boys won, 26-19!

There were no touchdowns, in the American Division game but the winners collected no less than 22 hits. One of them was a grand-slam homer by Barry Yagodich.

The game lasted two-and-a-half hours, which must also be an LL record.

Tom Hotz, Jim Coccara, and Bruce Nedrow each had four hits for the winners.

For the losers, Eric Crabtree had quite a day, collecting a homer, double and single.

Robert Keleman also stroked a round-tripper.

Lions Win

In National Division play, the Lions surprised the front running Elks, 13-5.

Dick Kunsa had a double and two singles for the winners while Frank Destefano chipped in with a double and single.

Tom Maatta was high for the losers with three singles.

Those were the only two LL games played last night. Twin bills are scheduled in both divisions this evening.

Stan Musial Sets New Endurance Mark

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Another record was tacked beside the name of Stan Musial today and the St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman, as perfect a gentleman as he is a baseball craftsman, grinned like a schoolboy.

He played his 823rd consecutive game Wednesday night, cracking the record of 822 held by former Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman Gus Suhr. Bashful Stan admitted it was a mark held by his one-time idol.

"When I was a kid at Donora (Pa.), the Pirates were my ball club," Stan reminisced. "Every time I could get to a ball game I did and Suhr was one of my heroes"

The new iron man of the older loop fingered a telegram. It read. "Congratulations on breaking the National League record for games played. Rooting for you to get your 3,000th hit."

It was from Milbrae, Calif., and signed, "Sincerely, Gus Suhr."

Not Far Away

The 3,000th hit isn't too far away for Musial, now 36 and with 2,853 hits to contemplate. It's one burning ambition he has, but quietly, the man is sneaking up on another mark . . .

He doubled off Robin Roberts in the game in which he set the league record and that extra base hit No. 1114, the most of any National Leaguer.

Stan is now sixth on the extra-base hit list, only three away from fifth place Jimmy Foxx. Babe Ruth leads the parade with 1,356, followed by Lou Gehrig with 1,190, Ty Cobb with 1,139 and Tris Spaker with 1,132 It's conceivable Stan can top the Gehrig mark and sit right behind the immortal Babe.

All of the stops were pulled for Musial in the record - breaker There was a big cake which he sliced and served to the Cardinals, who now have won eight straight.

He reminisced about his first major league game as an outfielder in September of 1941 when he doubled off Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves in his second time up. That was 2,192 games ago, not counting 23 World Series games and 13 All-Star games. Musial pointed a finger to bonus baby Von McDaniel and said "Gee, he was only three years old when I broke in."

Musial Cheered

He was cheered by 22,749 fans in his every appearance at the plate, and before the game, shook hands and posed with 7-year-old Benny Hooper of Manorville, N.Y., "the miracle of the well boy," who was rescued from a shaft where he was entombed for 24 hours last May 16. The boy was a guest at the game.

"I was more nervous in my first game than tonight," Musial said before play started and then added "you know if I knew they were going to make this fuss, I would have sat out a game a couple of seasons back.

"Now," he conceded when it was all over, "I'm glad I didn't."

Suhr Thrilled Over Stan Musial

MILLBRAE, Calif. (UP)—Gus Suhr, former Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman, said today he was "thrilled" when Stan Musial broke his National League record for consecutive games Wednesday night at Philadelphia.

"It's a great thing to see him break that mark," Suhr said "And if anybody was entitled to it, he was

"I'm thrilled that he set a new record. I never met Musial, who was just breaking into baseball at about the time I was going out, but I understand he is a heck of a swell fellow."

Musial played in his 823rd straight game for the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night, breaking the league record of 822 set by Suhr in 1931-37.

Monessen Girls Honored at Valley Bowling Banquet

Monessen's Fifth Avenue Hotel bowling team was hailed last night as the "finest women's team ever assembled in the rubberband duckpin game."

That praise came from Phil Grabowsky, veteran bowling editor for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, during his remarks at the fourth annual Mon Valley Ladies League banquet in the Charleroi Elks.

"Truthfully this Monessen team is the best I've ever seen," he said.

Grabowski was supported by Sebastian Isabella, secretary of the ARDBC who added:

"I don't know when they're ever going to lose."

Another Trophy

The Monessen girls not only won the Valley League title, but they also earned the Metropolitan Tournament trophy for the third straight time. That honor goes annually to the finest team in the Pittsburgh district.

Babe Kroskie, captain of the Monessen team, got a personal award, too. She was honored by the Pittsburgh district bowling proprietors as the top feminine bowling personality during 1957 in the duckpin game.

Prize money amounting to more than $1500 was distributed to the eleven Valley League teams. Lucy Faltz, of Monessen, was honored as the top average bowler with a 157.

Individual Awards

All members of the Monessen team received individual awards. They are Kroskie, Helen Skeloski, Lucy Faltz, Pauline Burdock, Mary Palm, Jean Sandis and Rose Jannotta.

Martha Venturini, captain of the Uniontown Axelrad team, accepted the runner-up trophy.

Mrs. Kroskie served as toastmaster for the affair. Verne Ellsworth, league president from Charleroi, offered the welcome.

Speakers in addition to Grabowski and Isabella included Mayor Hugo Parente, of Monessen; Rev. Theodore Benkovic, pastor of St. Anthony, Monessen; Allen Kline, sports editor of the Daily Independent.

Musial Early Leader in All Star Voting

NEW YORK (UP) — Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has played in 13 major league All-Star games, leads the National League voting today in the first poll results announced by Commissioner Ford C. Frick's office.

Musial, who set a National League record by playing his 823rd consecutive game Wednesday night, has attracted a total of 12,485 votes for first base in the first tally of ballots from all sections of the country.

Besides Musial, the only 1956 starters who lead in the early voting for this year's game at St. Louis, July 9, are left fielder Frank Robinson and catcher Ed Bailey, both of the Cincinnati Redlegs. Musial started last year's game as a right fielder.

The closest voting thus far is at shortstop, where Al Dark of the Cardinals has polled 4,241 votes to 3,948 for Roy McMillan of the Redlegs. McMillan won the starting assignment in 1956.

Mays Runner Up

Willie Mays of the New York Giants is runner-up to Musial in popularity with 11,807 votes for center field.

In the first cumulative vote the leaders at each position are: Musial, 1B; Red Schoendienst, Giants 2B; Ed Mathews, Braves, 3B; Dark, SS; Robinson, LF; Mays, CF; Hank Aaron, Braves, RF; Bailey, C.

The early American League balloting will be announced later in the day. Voting is being conducted by various newspapers and radio and television stations throughout the country. Balloting for the teams closes at midnight, June 27.

Ozarks Stage Big Inning to Win MVL Tussle at Ninth St.

The Monessen Ozarks scored five runs in the fourth inning last night to trip Van Voorhis, 7-4, in a rain-interrupted Mon Valley League attraction at Ninth Street Park.

Rain halted the game in the third inning for ten minutes. Finally the tussle was called in the sixth frame when another shower developed.

Bruce Pezzelle, a veteran fireballer, came on in the second inning and pitched great ball to preserve the Ozark win. He got solid batting support from Pappy Johnson, who slammed his seventh homer of the season in the first inning with a mate aboard.

The visiting Vans opened the scoring in the first inning, pushing over three runs. Jim Wujcik started things with a single. Frank Watson walked but Mike Shuback forced him at second. Then the Vans executed a double-steal with Wujcik coming home.

Myron Pottios promptly slammed a long home run over the left field fence to send Shuback across the easy way.

Ozarks Rally

In the fourth inning, the Ozarks wrapped it up good. Mike Young opened with a single and Paul Jezioro doubled him home. Ron Danko made first on a fielders choice. Bill Valla singled in Jezioro and Pezzelle doubled in both Danko and Valla. An error later permitted Pezzelle to tally.

In the sixth inning, the Vans added a marker on a single, two walks and fielder's choice.

Just in case, the Ozarks had a couple of runs in their half of the sixth. Ron Campbell homered with a mate aboard shortly before the rain came down.

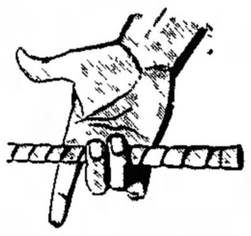
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Wobbly Grip

The grip with the right hand must be principally in the fingers. But it's not as easy as it sounds. Here is a method that will help you

After you have taken your regular grip, lift your right thumb off the club. Now, press downward with the left thumb and, at the same time, pull upward with the fingers of the right hand. Let the pressures offset each other. You will soon get the feeling that the grip is being pressed into the fingers of the right hand.

Then replace the right thumb to its normal position — just to the left of the of the shaft. . . . .

One other thing Hook the little finger of the right hand in the groove between the index and middle fingers of the left hand and exert gripping pressure with this little finger. Do not just let this little finger ride on top of the left index finger.

Kelly Submits High Bid for Wheeling Downs

WHEELING, W Va (UP)—John B Kelly, Philadelphia millionaire father of Princess Grace of Monaco, has submitted the high bid of $1,500,000 for Wheeling Downs race track at Wheeling, W Va

But it's up to Federal Judge Harry E Watkins to decide whether the offer will be accepted He scheduled a hearing on the sale for June 21

The half-mile track, located in Wheeling Island in the Ohio River, was put on the auction block Wednesday to satisfy part of the federal government's $3,285,000 tax claim against owner William (Big Bill) Lias

Kelly, reached at his Philadelphia home, said "I'm not answering any questions" about plans for the use of the track. "We don't have the track yet and it's not been decided what's to be done yet"

But Don Levine, Kelly's son-in-law who acted as his agent at the auction, obtained from West Virginia Racing Commission Chairman James G McClure the necessary applications for holding a summer meet beginning July 10.

Odds and Sentiment Favor Ben Hogan

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Ben Hogan, armed with a new putting grip and the same old grim determination, had both the odds and the sentiment of the gallery with him as he teed off today, along with 161 other hopefuls, in the opening round of the 57th U.S Open golf championship.

The first threesome starts firing at 8 a.m. est. today in a three-day grind that lists 18 holes today and Friday, with the low 50 and ties meeting over 36 holes Saturday for golfdom's greatest prize.

Uses Baseball Grip

Hogan, who has adopted a baseball-type putting grip to overcome his recent troubles on the greens, will be shooting for his fifth U S. Open title, and the oddsmakers apparently feel he'll get it because they have installed him as the favorite.

Seven other one - time Open champions are in the field besides Hogan They are defending titlist Cary Middlecoff, Julius Boros, Lloyd Mangrum, Lew Worsham, Jack Fleck, Ed Furgol and Gene Sarazen

All of them will know they have been in a battle before they are through with narrow - fairwayed Inverness, a course that winds 6,919 yards and has a par of 34-36—70 Estimates of the winning score ranged as high as 290, a total of 10 strokes over par for the four rounds

Watch "Old Guys"

The gallery experts all warned "look out for the old guys," referring to the likes of Hogan, Sammy Snead and Jimmy Demaret, who has taken on a new lease on life recently But there was also ample support for such younger men as Australia's Peter Thomson, three-time British Open champion, Masters' champion Doug Ford and PGA titlist Jackie Burke

While some of the youngsters like Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Jay Hebert figured to outstrip many of the veterans off the tee, Sarazen pointed out that the prize money might well be won or lost on the greens

"It's going to take a man who can putt fast greens," he said "Demaret was eight feet from the pin on the ninth hole and couldn't get down in two."

Deer Pays Visit To Allenport

The Allenport plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. had an unusual visitor this morning.

Employees reporting for the daylight shift were startled when a deer leaped over a six-foot fence, dashed across the mill yard, raced over a nearby highway and up the hill.

One of the onlookers, Tony Strauss of Monessen, identified the visitor as a young buck.

Pirates Defeat Cincinnati Again In Tenth Inning

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who couldn't win in 15 straight encounters with the Cincinnati Redlegs, have found the handle and are holding on tight

The Bucs defeated the Redlegs for the third time in a row Wednesday night with a 4-3 come-from-behind victory in the 10th inning.

It was the fourth straight triumph for Pittsburgh and the second time in a week they've run a winning streak that high

The Pirates had gone into the eighth inning trailing 3-1 Frank Thomas, who batted in the first Pittsburgh tally in the third, knocked in a Pirate run in the eighth to make the score 3-2

The Pirates returned with another run in the last of the ninth to knot the game 3-3 on a single by Roberto Clemente that sent pinchhitter Jim Pendleton home.

Freese Singles

In the 10th with one out, Fondy led off with a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice by Thomas, and was brought home by Freese's game-winning blow

The Redlegs tallied twice in the third inning on a two-run single by former Pirate Gus Bell and added another run in the sixth on Ed Bailey's single.

The victory put Roy Face's card at 3-4 and set Tom Acker's season record at 6-2

Bob Friend (3-7) goes for Pittsburgh this afternoon in the closer against Cincinnati with Hal Jeffcoat (5-2) handling the mound chores for the Redlegs

Del Ennis Paces Cardinals to Their Eighth Straight Victory

By MILTON RICHMAN

Del Ennis, on the trading block only a week ago, is swinging in his old rhythmic style again and he could be the man to produce a possible pennant melody for the streaking St Louis Cardinals

The slugging Ennis paced the Cards to their eighth straight victory Wednesday night when he blasted a three - run homer off Robin Roberts of the Phillies in a 4-0 triumph that moved St Louis within one game of the National League lead.

Thanks, in part, to Ennis' recent performances, the first five N L. clubs are so closely bunched today that they all could squeeze through an eye of the same needle. Cincinnati still leads by half a game over both Brooklyn and Milwaukee while St Louis and Philadelphia are both one game out.

Musial Sets Record

Larry Jackson of the Cardinals scattered nine hits to register his eighth victory as Stan (The Man) Musial set a league record for consecutive games played at 823

Brooklyn defeated Milwaukee 11-9, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 4-3, in 10 innings, and the Giants edged the Cubs, 4-3, in other N L games.

The White Sox increased their American League lead to five games with a 7-6 victory over the Yankees, the Indians licked the Red Sox 6-1 Detroit beat Baltimore, 4-2, and Washington took the nightcap of a twi-night twin bill, 3-2 after Kansas City won the opener 5-3

Charley Neal drove in four runs with a triple and a homer as the Dodgers ended their four - game losing slide at the expense of the Braves. Neal's two - run triple climaxed a six-run second inning and his two-run homer in the fourth proved the margin of victory Frank Torre, Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron homered for the Braves

Gene Freese singled home Dee Fondy in the 10th inning with the run that gave the Pirates their eighth victory in the last 12 games

Mays "Steals" Show

Willie Mays was the whole show in the Giants' win over the Cubs He slammed his 11th homer with two on in the sixth to tie the score, then stole third base in the ninth and continued home when Cub catcher Cal Neeman threw wild into left field

The White Sox had to call on relievers Paul LaPalme and Dixie Howell to check a ninth-inning rally after Mickey Mantle blasted a two-run homer, his second of the game and 18th of the season Mantle had four hits in five trips to boost his batting average to .378

Walt Dropo and Jim Rivera hit homers for Chicago while Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer connected for the Yanks

Mossi In Start

Cleveland's bullpen ace Don Mossi hurled his first complete game of the season to beat Boston Mossi scattered nine hits and struck out six while the Indians capitalized on Bob Porterfield's error and walk to wrap up the contest with a five - run second inning

The Tigers got to Oriole starter Art Ceccarelli for three runs in the first inning J W Porter supplying the big blow with a two-run homer

Rocky Bridges' sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the ninth helped reliever Tru Clevenger to his fifth straight victory as the Senators won the nightcap from the Athletics In the opener, Kansas City rode to victory on homers by Lou Skizas, Gus Zernial and Hal Smith

Stuart Threatens To Quit Baseball For Movie Career

ATLANTA, Ga (UP)—Disgusted Dick Stuart threatened to quit baseball today for a career in the movies.

The controversial outfielder, whose home run hitting is more than offset by poor fielding, said the Pittsburgh Pirates have ordered him back to the Lincoln (Neb) club where he hit 66 homers in 1956

But Stuart said he wouldn't play there unless the Class A Western League club gave him a bonus. Otherwise, he said he'll work in the movies the rest of the year.

Stuart turned back to Pittsburgh by Atlanta after hitting eight homers in 23 games, said he probably would stop at Lincoln enroute to his home in Culver City, Calif, a movie-making center.

He came from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, but was batting only .211 for the Southern Association team

Sporstmen's Corner—

State Deer Herd Is Now Wide Spread

Early in this century, wise laws and plenty of natural food and cover combined admirably to make the Game Commission's deer program unusually successful

The white-tails multiplied in the hinterlands of the Commonwealth in a surprisingly short span of years But who then would have dreamed that long before mid-century the animals would spread so widely as to be resident to every county of the state, even populous Philadelphia County?

A review of the 1956 deer situation in southeast Pennsylvania discloses the following, showing that the popular big game animal sometimes brings problems as well as hunting pleasure

The reported hunter kill of legal deer in the 13 southeastern counties during the 12-day buck season last year was nearly 3,000 animals. The record shows, by comparison, that during the entire year 1 160 deer (of both sexes) met death by colliding with vehicles on highways in the same area.

Total Exceptional

A poll of Game Protectors in the Commission's Southeast Division revealed that nearly 500 deer died on the highways within the Division the first five months of 1957. Normally the high road-kill of deer comes during the mating season in the fall, so this total is exceptional.

Contributing to the deer build-up in that sector, there are large areas where deer hunting is either illegal or not permitted. Several townships are closed to hunting, as are (naturally) parks and national shrines, along with expansive state institution properties and many private holdings.

This considered, it then becomes apparent that deer and other wild creatures have, in effect, large sanctuaries in which they may multiply unchecked by the hunter's gun or bow

New Boat Rules

In recent weeks, the state has adopted a number of safety regulations relating to motor boats.

Here are some of the new rulings on propellers:

In all cases where the air propeller is capable of being turned laterally and used as a rudder as well as for propulsion, the propeller shall be completely enclosed in a protective housing of metal tubing or heavy wire.

In all cases where the boat is steered by a rudder and where the propeller is located astern of (behind) the power unit, the propeller must be enclosed at least 50 per cent.

And the propeller must not extend horizontally beyond the gunwales of the boat

It is reminded that the official record of registration of air-driven boat engines shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such craft at the time of the effectiveness of the new regulations.

Good Start

Many established sportsmen's clubs lend assistance valuable to Pennsylvania's wildlife management plans, thereby helping to ensure good hunting because they "practice what they preach" But when a new club starts right off with an outstanding program commendation is quick to follow.

Game Protector Charles Keiper lauds such a Clinton County organization in these words: "Last fall a new outdoorsmen's group, the Hyner Sportsmen, was formed. It's membership consisted of a few local men and some out-of-towners who hunt in the Hyner area. This is the record of the club's accomplishments last winter: 175 bushels of ear corn and 87 bushels of small grain, bought by the club and placed mostly in wild turkey feeders; 200 woodland apple trees pruned; and 400 man hours spent on browse cutting for deer.

Also, the Hyner club planted 700 scrub seedlings for wildlife this spring Quite a showing for a new club with only a handful of local members to carry out the projects."

Senate Opens Debate on Ike's Big Foreign Aid Program Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate opened debate today on President Eisenhower's $3,600,000,000 foreign aid program, but Senate leaders hinted they didn't expect the real fight over it to come until later.

GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) predicted the Senate would approve just about the bill drafted by the Foreign Relations Committee. The group cut some 227 million dollars from the President's request.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) declared it would be "dangerous" to make "meat-axe" cuts in the foreign aid program before the House studied it and before Senate and House appropriations committees have held hearings.

The present bill merely authorizes a program of a certain kind. The money must be provided later and this is when reductions might be made. Congressional economizers have long been eyeing the program in hopes of making a big budget reduction.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D - La.) planned to introduce amendments to the authorization bill which would trim the program almost 400 million dollars.

His proposals would cut back the proposed military aid authorization from $1,800,000,000 to $1,500,000,000. Defense - support assistance would be tailored from 800 million dollars to 710 million.

Other congressional news:

Civil Rights: The House resumed action on the Civil Rights Bill after a one-day recess. Some southerners considered pressing for a quick vote on the jury trial amendment before further opposition built up against it. One of the amendment's supporters said chances are doubtful now for its adoption because "a lot of heat" has been put on GOP members to vote against it.

Schools: President Eisenhower may ask Congress to make the proposed five - year $1,500,000,000 school construction program a three-year plan. Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio), an opponent of the program, said administration been considering such a step as a way to appease opponents of it. Eisenhower wants a three - year program that would end while he was still in office, according to GOP congressmen who talked with him Wednesday.

Draft: The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing a two-year draft of young physicians and dentists for military service. The bill would make the maximum draft age for physicians 35 instead of 50 as at present.

Civil Service: A government official has told a House Civil Service subcommittee the government is trying to find out how many federal employes and their dependents are stationed abroad. The official, Elmer Staats, chief executive officer of the Operations Coordinating Board, said the government has no overall record of the number. But he said a survey—started three weeks ago to determine how to reduce the federal employment abroad — would provide the figures.

Warm and Humid Weather for Most of Area

By UNITED PRESS

Warm and humid weather with some showers was expected in western sections of Pennsylvania today while mostly clear skies were forecast elsewhere in the state.

Tmeperatures throughout the state were expected to range from the high 70's to the low 80's.

Cooler air which began to move into the state Tusday was pushed back by a flow of warm and humid southern air which is expected to bring typical summer weather for at least the next two days.

Tonight was expected to have a continuation of cloudy skies and precipitation in western sectors and intermittent cloudy conditions in the east.

Leader Receives Bill Restricting Jobs to State

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M Leader today received the so-called "anti-carpetbagger" bill covering gubernatorial appointments to top level state jobs.

The House passed the Senate-originated bill Wednesday, 155-30, after brief debate. The measure carried bipartisan sponsorship and was worded in a manner to suggest but not insist, that state residents be considered first for appointments.

House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) advised his majority delegation to vote for the bill because it "expressed the will of the Assembly without tieing the governor's hands."

The bill specifies that the governor should first consider Commonwealth persons for appointments and then reach outside the state's borders for appointees if he could not fill the position to his satisfaction with a Pennsylvania resident.

The bill was sponsored by Sens. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) after Senate Democrats disagreed with the governor over the appointment of non-Pennsylvanians to high state jobs.

Walter George Suffers Serious Heart Ailment

ATLANTA (UP)—Elder statesman Walter F. George, retired Democratic Senate "dean" now serving as President Eisenhower's special NATO ambassador, was hospitalized with a heart ailment today.

Emory University Hospital reported Wednesday night George, 79, was found to be in serious condition within hours after he was admitted for a checkup.

The hospital said he was administered anti-coagulants, drugs used to prevent blood from forming clots which sometimes cause heart attacks.

Dr. Willis Hurst said George, who served in the U.S. Senate 34 years, will be advised to rest for several weeks at his home in Vienna, Ga., after his hospital stay. Hurst gave no indication of how long that would be.

"Senator George has had chest pain and shortness of breath for the past several weeks due to coronary disease," Hurst said. "Several weeks of rest will be needed."

Later the hospital reported the description of George's condition was changed from "fair" to "serious." A spokesman said he rested comfortably during the night.

The Virgin Islands were discovered by Columbus on his second voyage in 1493.

Cool Heads Solve Hot Problem

Sometimes you can eliminate a hot problem with cool heads. At least that's what the engineering department of the Monessen works of Pittsburgh Steel Co. did.

Their problem was both a hot and heavy one.

It was how to move hot tube rounds and bars from the billet mill yard's cooling bed to railroad tracks 300 feet away.

The trick was not to interrupt operations while portions of the company's 21-million expansion program are being completed.

During normal operation of the billet mill and its facilities, tube rounds or billets roll out of the mill, are cut into desired lengths by a hot saw, then rumble along a runout table to cooling beds.

After the rounds are cooled, "go-devils" (steel prongs beneath the cooling beds that act as fingers) move the rounds to a crane that lifts them onto the railroad gondola cars.

But the cooling bed crane was moved several weeks ago to make way for the erection of a billet yard building and an additional cooling bed.

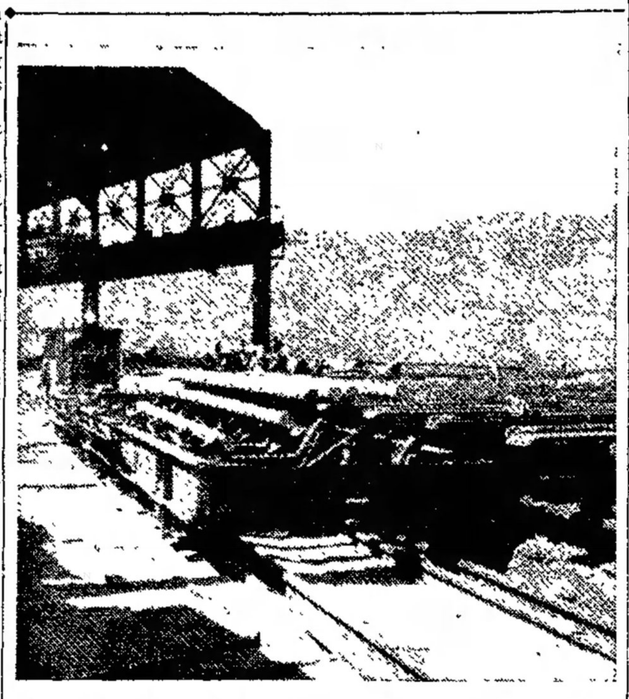
Company engineers, attempting to keep shutdowns and job layoffs to bare minimum, had to figure out a way to transport the tube rounds over the 300 feet of "no-crane land" in the yard.

Like most good ideas, the solution was simple because of the old fashioned common sense employed.

Engineers designed a special transfer car. The entire rig rolls along at three miles per hour on its 300-foot journey approximately 200 trips a day from "no-crane land" to a waiting crane.

Then the tube rounds are hoisted onto a standard size gondola which takes the rounds to Gibsonton docks for loading onto Allenport-bound river barges.

At Allenport, tube rounds are finished into tubes and pipe.



TRANSFER CAR — Tube rounds are rolling from cooling bed into Pittsburgh Steel-designed transfer car that rolls along at three miles per hour.

New Bill Would Regulate Sale Of Air Rifles

HARRISBURG (UP)—A proposal to regulate the sale of air rifles was back in the state Senate today for concurrence in House amendments spelling out additional penalties.

The House passed the revised Senate originated bill Wednesday, 194-10, without debate. The House amendments would levy a $10 to $50 fine and court costs or a 10 day jail term for persons under 18 who violated the intent of the bill.

The legislation specified that persons under 18 could not legally purchase or borrow an air rifle except from a relative. The violating lender or dealer would be subject to up to a $100 fine and-or a 60 day jail term.

However, the bill said a person under 18 could have an air rifle if he kept it in his home and used it only at target ranges under the supervision of an adult.

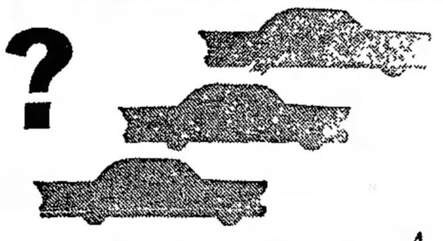
The Egg And?

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UP)—A leghorn named Meggi O'Day won the Hunterdon County egg-laying contest with a 22-day egg-laying record and received a television offer. Rutgers University Agriculture Department officials, who own the hen, refused to let her appear. They explained she would probably suffer stage fright and wouldn't lay an egg.

WHY re-enlist in the small-car army?



READ THIS STARTLING FACT

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag —yet none gives you Any of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty that you ever had the pleasure of bossing. TEN years ago, Bloss Elias came to Death Valley to die, but he stayed to bring life to it. With the help of his wife, Betty, Elias has, in intervening years built an unusual health resort — Tecopa Hot Springs—55 bleak miles north of Baker, Calif. The town was built almost entirely out of railroad ties salvaged from the abandoned Tonopah & Tidewater railroad. Bloss, now 70, constructed the town's store, gas station, bungalows, Roman baths, recreation center and modern power plant out of those railroad ties. Yet, just ten years ago, he was a jobless arthritic cripple, facing a slow death. He found healthful mineral springs in the area and decided to make his dream of a town come true. He bought the land with $2,000 in Civil war scrip, the only kind the government would accept for this land. At auction, he bought nearly three miles of railroad ties. Then he built his town. It's a tourist Mecca.

Newspaper Appeal On Tax Rejected

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Superior Court today rejected the appeal of the Homestead Daily Messenger in its challenge of machinery tax payments totaling $22.130 on printing equipment.

In an opinion upholding an Allegheny County Court ruling, Justice Robert E. Woodside defined linotypes, presses, and other plant machinery as "real estate and taxable as such." He said the "structure in which a newspaper is printed is an industrial plant within the ordinary as well as legal contemplation of the term."

Program to Be Held Tomorrow For Bible Class

The Daily Vacation Bible School being held at LaGrange School will close its two-week session tomorrow with a special program in Rostraver High School auditorium at 7 p. m.

A program is being planned by the various teachers and will include part of the work taught during the class. Following the program, guests will visit Pricedale Union Church recreation hall where the work of children will be displayed and lunch served.

Children taking part in the program are to be at the school at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Margaret Piersol and Mrs. Emily Cook, of Rehoboth Presbyterian Church, are attending a state Presbyterian Church meeting at Grove City this week.

Anne Frank Is Honored by City

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Anne Frank's native city Wednesday observed what would have been her 28th birthday. An organization of German victims of the Hitler regime placed a memorial tablet on the Frank family's house.

Anne, her mother and her sister died in a Nazi concentration camp in 1944. Her diary was made into a prize-winning American play.

Peggy Joyce Is Dead

NEW YORK (UP)—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former Broadway showgirl whose six marriages made her an international celebrity, died Wednesday night of throat cancer.

The blonde, blue-eyed beauty was born Marguerite Upton, 64 year ago in Farmville, Va. Her father was a barber.

Although she was one of Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorified American Girls" and also appeared in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," it was her matrimonial ventures during the 1920s and 1930's that brought her international publicity.

Miss Joyce ran away from school at the age of 16 to marry Everett Archer of Denver in 1910. Her first marriage was annulled six months later.

Her next matrimonial venture was with Washington attorney Sherburne Hopkins, from whom she later was divorced.

They were married in 1920 and divorced a year later. Joyce gave his wife her financial start with a reported $600,000 divorce settlement, jewelry and stock in his lumber company that assured her a $1,500-a-month income for life.

In 1924, she married her fourth husband, Count Gosta Morner, of Sweden. They divorced in 1928, after which she wrote:

"All men are failures. You can't live with 'em and you can't live without 'em . . . you never know a man until you marry him, and then you wish you didn't."

She did not marry again for 17 years. Miss Joyce's fifth marriage was to Anthony Easton, a British-born engineer, in 1945.

"You can say this is the last marriage," she said at the time. It too ended in divorce.

Some 35 million U. S. families seven million of them farm families, own automobiles.

Atomic Electric Station to Be Ready Nov. 1

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne Light Co.'s atomic powerhouse at Shippingport, Pa., will go into operation by next November or December, a company official declared today.

John Gray, chief of engineering construction for Duquesne Light, said that Pittsburgh area residents will begin receiving electric power from atomic sources sometime after Nov. 1.

The latter part of 1957 was the target date for completion of what will be the world's first full-scale atomic power station for generation of electricity solely for commercial purposes. Construction was started in September, 1954.

Duquesne's atomic power will be fed into the same transmission lines carrying power from conventional sources to homes, industrial plants and other customers.

NEWS OF BELLE VERNON AND DISTRICT

WCTU Meets; Elects Officers Here Tuesday

A temperance program titled "Life of Service" featured the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Belle Vernon Women's Christian Temperance Union held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Clawson, of Vine St. Mrs. Margaret Rainey was the leader.

After the scripture the group sang, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee". A "Memorial" was conducted by Mrs. Clawson, who read scripture from Romans and the group joined in singing "Sing and Smile and Pray the Clouds Away". She also read a poem. The next group hymn was "There's A Wideness in God's Mercy". Mrs. Elmer Finley read an article, "For Charley's Sake" and Mrs. Arthur Sellars sang "This Is My Father's World".

Mrs. Rainey read an article, "Lend A Hand" and Mrs. Lester Jeffries read an article, "Where Does Your Child Get His Ideals".

During the business session the election of officers was held and the same officers were retained for another year, Mrs. Sellars, president; Mrs. Agnes Lee, vice president; Mrs. Jeffries, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Maude Finley, recording secretary; Mrs. Lily Miller, treasurer and Mrs. Ewing Brown, publicity chairman.

The women each contributed toward a graduation gift for Dorcas Henry, whose mother, Mrs. Russell Henry, was formerly a member of the local chapter. The family now lives in Florida.

The next meeting will be in the form of a picnic at the home of Mrs. Edna Dryer, of Fayette Rd.

Benediction and the singing of "Are You Able" concluded the session.

Luncheon was served following play and in two weeks Mrs. Speers will entertain at the Columbus Hotel.

Tornadoes Hit Kansas; Floods Hurt Oklahoma

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes dipped out of a continuing squall line across the nation's midlands Wednesday night. Heavy rains posed the threat of new floods in Oklahoma and inundated about 10,000 acres in southern Illinois.

Twisters accompanied by heavy rain and hail the size of marbles swept parts of eastern Kansas, and high winds battered most of the middle and lower Mississippi Valley.

Funnel clouds also were sighted in severe thunderstorms near Aberdeen, S.D. No injuries were reported in the twisters.

Champaign, Ill., was hit by a windstorm for the third straight day today, with gusts of up to 50 m.p.h. causing some property damage. A violent thunderstorm and hail also whipped through the city.

Shreveport, La., was soaked by a 3½-inch rainfall during a six-hour period Wednesday night and wind gusts exceeded 50 m.p.h. in the city.

Weathermen predicted scattered showers and thunderstorms today in most sections from the Mississippi River to the East Coast and the plains states.

Queen Elizabeth 31 Years Old

LONDON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth officially turned 31 years of age today with a brilliant state ceremony marking the end of her most momentous year on the throne.

Wearing a colonel's army uniform and sitting erect on her horse, Elizabeth paraded before an estimated 250,000 persons in the glorious "trooping of the colors." It was her last full-dress function before her visit this fall to the United States and Canada.

Hours before the colorful ceremony, thousands of persons crowded the sidewalks outside of Buckingham Palace along the mall to the Admiralty Arch and the Horse Guards parade grounds. Many were there before dawn carrying huge picnic lunches.

The Queen actually turned 31 last April 21. But June is the month of good weather in London so officially every Briton's birthday falls in June.

AN APPEAL — George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO appeals to Congress for legislation to prevent corrupt management of more than 20 billion dollars in employe pension and welfare funds. He appeared before a Senate labor subcommittee.

The Daily Vacation Bible School at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church opened Monday morning and will continue through Friday, June 21. Classes are held each morning from 9 until 11:45 a. m., with the exception of Saturday and Sunday.

"Journeying with Jesus" is the program theme for the whole school and each department has been assigned a different theme. "Loving and Pleasing Jesus" will be the nursery theme with Mrs. Ruth Weise as the teacher and Mrs. Margie Tait, Mrs. Dorothy Lux, and Mrs. Norma Wachs as her assistants.

"Leaning God's Way With Bible Children" is the beginners theme with Mrs. Barbara Schneidmiller as teacher and Mrs. Charlotte Taylor, Mrs. Marion Cassaddle, and Anna Mary Mark as assistants. Mrs. Taylor is also the pianist for this group.

The primary department is learning about Bible Boats. Teachers in this department are as follows: Mrs. Audrey Myers, Jane Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Jo, Mrs. Evelyn Hosmack 2, Mrs. Bertha Kravinek 3. Helpers include Jacqueline Unusco, Sally Younkin, Donna Pregrad, and pianist Joyce Kohler.

Mrs. Louise Ulanoff, Mrs. Dorothy Zumoro, Mrs. Alice Crossland and Mrs. Dorothy Specht are the teachers of the junior department with the theme "The Christians Walk and Talk."

Intermediates with Mrs. Mary Lenk as teacher are using the theme "Paul Does Jesus Tell."

Group leaders are Joyce Jurcisz and Ruth Ann Tidy with Mrs. Sophia Rieser as director.

On Friday evening, June 21, there will be a closing day program at 7:30 p. m. The handicraft projects made by the students will be displayed and there will be a special program at this time.

The Rev. John Schneidmiller is the church pastor.

Church Meetings Held This Week

Several organizations of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church have meetings scheduled for this week. The Church Council met on Tuesday evening in the parish house. This evening the regular monthly meeting of the Brotherhood will be held at 7 p. m.

The Good Samaritan Sunday School Class will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. Mrs. Audrey Myers is in charge of devotions for this meeting.

Greensboro Wins State Contest

GREENSBORO, Pa. (UP)—This Greene County community of 800 residents receives $2,000 from the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce today for winning second place in a state-wide community improvement contest.

The award was for the development of a community swimming pool and park.

Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman a native of the Greensboro area, will speak at the ceremonies.

Just not Thinking

SPENCER, Iowa (UP)— The mayor of Spencer pleaded guilty to speeding in Mayor's Court Wednesday and fined himself $8 and costs. Mayor John Flindt said he went 37 miles-an-hour through a 25-mile-an-hour zone because he was "preoccupied and not thinking about driving."

'Shaky' Situation

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UP) — Traffic engineer William Wellons and motorists have taken the city for $7,000 in recent months. They have discovered, he said, they can make parking meters register by shaking them instead of using coins.

Graham's 'Counseling Service' Unique in Mass Evangelism

(This is the third of four special reports by the United Press on Billy Graham's New York crusade.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

NEW YORK (UP) — Of the hundreds who respond each night to Billy Graham's invitation to make "decisions for Christ," about 60 per cent fall into the category that the church traditionally has called "converts."

The other 40 per cent who come forward already are church members — some nominal, some active—who are reaffirming their faith.

Graham calls them all "inquirers" or "seekers" for Christ.

He agreed with his critics that others, who may have been genuinely moved to accept Christ, fall along the wayside in the difficult transition from a revival atmosphere to the less - stimulating environment of a local church.

Graham pointed out, however, that he has tried to minimize the attrition among his converts by setting up a "counseling and follow-up system" that is unique in the annals of mass evangelism.

Accompanied By Counselor

It goes into operation the moment an "inquirer" starts down the aisle at a Graham meeting. Before he reaches the front of the auditorium, the inquirer will find at his side a person of the same sex and approximately the same age—a "counselor" who has had nine weeks of special training for his role.

After the service, the counselor accompanies the inquirer to a large auditorium in the basement. When everyone is seated Graham or one of his assistants makes a brief talk.

The inquirers are urged to return each evening at 6:30 for the duration of the crusade, to attend classes of instruction. They also get individual interviews with the inquirers who later will fill out a "decision card" containing the inquirer's name, address, age, telephone number, occupation, the nature of his "decision," and his local church "preference."

Card Sent To Church

Within 48 hours, a copy of this card will go to the minister of the local church. The counselor is supposed to keep in touch with the inquirer, by telephone or in person, until he has established contact with a local church.

Some ministers follow up these leads diligently. Others, who do not particularly approve of Graham's methods, resent what they regard as an attempt to draft them into his crusade.

Graham does all he can, at ministerial conferences and private talks, to win the wholehearted cooperation of local clergymen.

Many attempts have been made to determine what proportion of the "decisions" made at Graham's meeting bear lasting fruit. Admirers have demonstrated through spot-checks that many converts are now active, witnessing church members.

British Survey

The only survey which seems to have covered a statistically-significant sample was conducted in 1955 by the British Weekly, an interdenominational church paper in England which has never been identified as pro or anti-Graham.

On the basis of a poll of British clergy of all denominations, the paper reported that 64 per cent of the converts who joined churches during Graham's London crusade were "still attending church and taking part in church life regularly" one year later.

Graham himself will not venture a guess, in terms of percentages, as to how many signers of decision cards become true, lasting converts to Christianity.

"Frankly," he said, "I don't think there is any way we can tell, this side of heaven. If even one of them is saved, the whole crusade is worthwhile."

Queen Elizabeth Advised to Relax Protocol in U. S.

LONDON (UP) — A British newsman advised Queen Elizabeth to relax royal protocol and really get to know "those friendly Americans" on her visit to the United States next fall.

The advice came from the London Daily Mail's New York correspondent Don Iddon, now home on vacation. His first dispatch after arriving from New York several days ago told his readers what a horrible place the United States is for a Briton to live in.

His story today was headlined: "U.S. Tour Must Not Be Muddled: The Barriers Should Be Let Down A Little."

He said the Queen and Prince Philip are going to have to learn how casually friendly Americans are. They'll love it if their royal advisers will only relax the barriers and let them mix with the people, he said.

Pilot Complains Of Complicated Emergency Rules

WASHINGTON (UP)—An airline pilot complained today that over complicated emergency procedures may be causing crashes instead of preventing them.

Veteran United Airlines Capt. Warren Leroy said that when an airliner is in danger, its crew is required to follow confusing, long and sometimes contradictory rules laid down by the government and airlines.

Leroy tartly suggested that "we are letting the emergency procedures interfere with the emergencies," he added:

"There are 30 pages of emergency procedures in the DC6 manual alone. There are 425 words for a cabin heater fire . . . yet some check pilots tend to give a better grade to the pilot who can recite every word on every page . . . encouraging this detailed memorization may be detrimental."

Leroy's comments were contained in a blunt article written for "Airline Pilot," official publication of the Airline Pilots Assn.

World Fleet Begins Jaunts Back to Bases

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)— The great international review fleet today broke its formation off the Virginia shore and began dispersing for the oceans of the world.

The Navy ordered 35 ships of the 18-nation fleet including the American heavy cruiser Des Moines to return to port before dawn.

At the same time, a powerful task group led by the command cruiser Northampton prepared to sail for Rio De Janeiro during the day. The rest of the 111-ship fleet began the difficult precision operation of returning to their Norfolk piers by sunset.

All 33 foreign ships were scheduled to return to port with the remaining American ships. The fleet will remain open to the public until Monday.

The Navy estimated that nearly 300,000 people saw the great fleet —mightiest peacetime collection of ships in history—as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson reviewed it Wednesday from the missile cruiser Canberra.

Crowds jammed the grassy dunes and beaches from Norfolk to Cape Henry for good vantage points to watch the international naval celebration of the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown.

102nd Birthday

ISLINGTON, England (UP) — Mrs. Emily Webster celebrated her 102nd birthday Wednesday and said drink in moderation "helps you live longer." She spent most of her early life working in her father's bar.

Had License, But Wrong One

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—It cost George Willis, 24, a Negro, $65 when he handed his driver's license to Traffic Judge Wallace P. Kelley. Willis was charged with driving without one.

The worn piece of paper he handed Kelley read:

"This is to certify that the person herein named has passed all tests for nervousness and has been licensed to irritate, annoy, criticize and otherwise disturb the operator of the car. Back seat drivers must carry this license on person or otherwise must keep quiet while vehicle is in motion."

Willis, who can't read, said he got his license in a barbershop.

A dead person may vote, legally, if he mails an absentee ballot and then dies before election day.

NEW Sealtest LOW-CALORIE, HIGH-PROTEIN COTTAGE CHEESE

has 50% less fat! More body-building protein!

Doctors always have recommended cottage cheese for dieters. Because it is low in calories, high in protein.

But now Sealtest has made it even better. Because as few calories as ordinary cottage cheese has, it still contains some butter fat. Now Sealtest has cut that right in half! In its place, they put more body-building protein. So you'll feel stronger while you're slimming down.

But the nicest part of Sealtest's new Low-High cottage cheese—it doesn't taste bland the way so many diet foods do. It's delicious, satisfying, as rich-tasting as any other cottage cheese.

Lengthy Legal Battle To Bring Freedom for Convict Bears Fruit

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A tall man Negro will walk to freedom from a cell in Eastern State Penitentiary soon and bring to an end a legal legal legal battle that may be unique in the annals of American criminal jurisprudence.

Aaron (Trigger) Turner has been behind bars of his 36-year-life in prison, mostly in the death house, for a crime the state supreme court finally decided he probably did not commit. He is expected to go free this week.

Sentenced to the electric chair four times and to life imprisonment once, neither Turner nor his court-appointed attorney Edwin Rome, ever weakened in their determination to win his freedom.

The story began on Dec. 15, 1945 when Frank Enders and Charles Simmons were murdered in the Acme Broom Co. plant in Germantown Philadelphia during an attempted holdup.

Implicate Turner

Clarence Lofton and Jasper Johnson were arrested shortly afterwards. They implicated Turner who was arrested on June 3, 1946.

Lofton and Johnson were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Turner, largely on Lofton's testimony was sentenced to the electric chair in September, 1946.

Rome appealed through the courts. Finally, three years later the US Supreme Court ordered a new trial on grounds his confession had been obtained through police brutality over a nine-day period.

At his second trial the jury quickly found him guilty and again ordered the death penalty. Appeals finally reached the state Supreme Court, which in 1951 threw out testimony Turner had given at a preliminary hearing. The state bowing to the US Supreme Court ruling did not introduce his confession.

Hears Third Sentence

In June of that year, Turner for the third time heard a sentence of death. The state's case revolved around the testimony of two policemen who eavesdropped on Turner from an adjoining cell and who testified that Turner admitted the crime. The defense completed its appeal before the state Supreme Court that since the eavesdropping took place during his nine-day illegal detention it should not be admitted in evidence. The court early in 1952 agreed.

Turner was sentenced to death for the fourth time in January, 1952. At that trial Lofton who at earlier trials had testified for the state declined to take the stand.

The prosecution claimed it had been taken by surprise and told him in court: "This man (Turner) was sentenced to the electric chair three times on your testimony." In September of that year quarter sessions court overturned the verdict on the basis of that statement.

Asks Sixth Appeal

The fifth jury in February 1954 again convicted Turner but this time recommended life imprisonment. Turner put his life on the line for the sixth time and told Rome to appeal. Two years later in August 1956, a substitute judge dismissed the appeal and passed sentence of life imprisonment.

Last Thursday, the state Supreme Court sitting in Harrisburg gave its decision on the appeal and in the following 50 words in effect set him free.

"The judgment of sentence is reversed, and a new trial granted with directions that if the Commonwealth is not able to produce evidence of defendant's guilt by testimony of any greater legal sufficiency than what it offered at the trial here involved, a nolle prosequi be entered on the indictments."

'Bagged' an Elk

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UP)—Mrs. Jerome Harris reported to police that someone had stolen a bag of laundry from her back porch. Officers learned that a volunteer from the Lyndhurst Elks Lodge had mistaken Mrs. Harris' home for another and picked up her laundry as a clothing drive donation.

State Travel Booklet Ready for Distribution

Distribution of the new, all-Pennsylvania travel promotion booklet was begun today by the state Department of Commerce. According to Secretary William R. Davis, the first mailing of the 28-page booklets has been timed so as to precede the state's tourist season."

Approximately 65,000 persons have requested copies in response to the Department's "See Pennsylvania" advertising program and will receive the colorful piece on Pennsylvania by June 10.

Dissemination of the four-color brochure on Pennsylvania's scenic, historical and resort attractions for tourists and vacationists marks the end of several months' work in design, photograph selection, writing, composition and printing.

Starting with the Department's Travel Industry Advisory Council taking over the task of supervising the preparation of a new vacation promotion piece, a booklet committee was appointed by the Council consisting of:

Gilbert Love, The Pittsburgh Press, J. Benton Jones, vice president, Pennsylvania Railroad; David Miller, vice president, Allegheny Airlines; S. S. Lea, promotion director, Atlantic Refining Company; David Aron, advertising manager, Gimbels department store; Paul McNamara, general manager, The Warwick, Philadelphia, and vice president, Pennsylvania Hotel Association.

The brochure committee formulated the basic theme and outlined the pictorial content of the booklet. Several thousand color photographs of Pennsylvania's travel attractions were viewed for possible use in the full-color booklet.

The narrative text was edited by Love.

Area Driver's License Revoked

One district driver had his license revoked during the week ending May 24, it was announced today by the Bureau of Highway Safety.

He is Joseph Porueznik, of Smithton. The charge was intoxication. Eight had their licenses suspended, and fourteen others had their privileges restored.

Suspensions were given to the following:

Failure to satisfy judgment: John Reoli, of Star Junction and James Brosich, of Daisytown, R. D. 1.

Improper passing: Oakley Lawson, of Johnson St., Bentleyville.

Speeding, no defense submitted: John Zippay, Jr., 1217 McKean Ave., Charleroi and Larry Kubicko, 651 S. 14th St., Monessen.

No operator's license: James Hagyar, of Daisytown, R. D. 1.

Driving too fast for conditions: John Porvaznik, of Perryopolis, R. D. 2.

Driving too fast for conditions, failure to stop at stop sign: Paul Joe Stellitano, 10 Knox Ave., Monessen.

Restorations were made to: Chester A. Forsythe, of Banning; Bernard Bandini, 931 Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi; Donald Crafton, 302 3rd St., Donora; L. M. Frye, 427 W. Main St., Monongahela; Joe McKay, 126 Lincoln St., Cokeburg; Jay B. Oppenheim, 246 E. Main St., Monongahela.

Also Carl E. Payne, 1015 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen; Michael A. Bill, of Grindstone; Carl Fayak, 528 Fayette St., Belle Vernon; Thomas Ferguson, 703 Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi; Melvin J. Gysegenn, Monongahela, R. D. 1; Faustin R. O'Dell, of Keenan Hill, New Eagle; Harry Pickens, of Daisytown and Wilbert McCrae, of 620 Chestnut St., Monessen.

Thirteen pieces in a "baker's dozen" originated when King Louis of France warned all bakers who gave under measure that they would be beheaded.

County Flower Growers to Meet

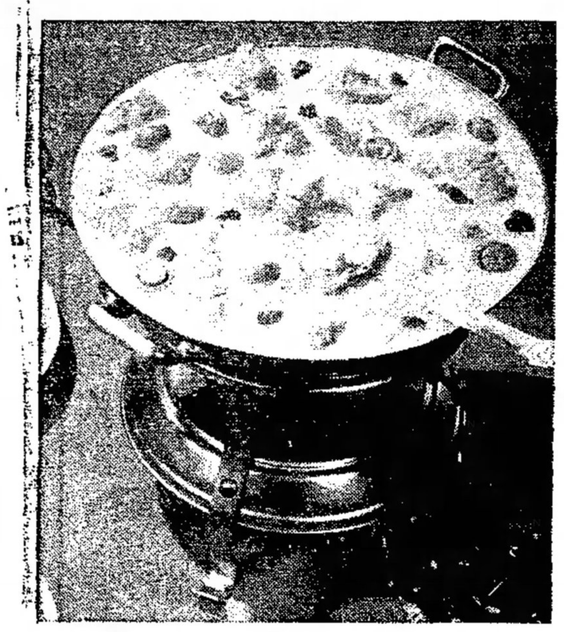
The Westmoreland County Flower Growers Association will hold their June meeting at Thomas greenhouses on the Jeannette-Greensburg Rd., Route 180, Tuesday, June 18 at 7:30 p. m., according to Jack Updegraff, of Greensburg, president of the association.

The main speaker will be Dr. James Boodley, assistant professor of floriculture, Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Boodley will discuss the latest research information on growing poinsettias and chrysanthemums. All commercial flower growers are invited to attend.

Every homemaker wants the very best for her family — including the finest foods possible. Now that may sound like a large order and a bit expensive to achieve. However, many district women have solved the problem with POMCO FINER FOODS. Pomco picks the finest, and processes with extra care to bring these products to you at the peak of perfection. Whether you choose Pomco canned vegetables, canned fruits, preserves, jams and jellies, pickles and relishes, catsup, olives, coffee, condensed milk, piecrust mix or a score of other items, you know you have chosen the finest when you pick Pomco.

What is more delicious than a dish of tender, new Pomco Peas? Why, a can of Pomco Peas combined with a can of Pomco Whole Small Onions, that's what! And the really knowing cook will add a few shreds of garden lettuce to the peas-onions combination just before serving. A generous dollop of butter is all the dressing this dish needs. Nothing could be simpler to prepare and yet the effect is festive indeed.

Have you discovered the wonderful convenience of the 8-ounce size Pomco canned fruits and vegetables. The 8 ounces provide two average servings and are ideal for families of two, live-aloners and those folks who can't all agree on one fruit or vegetable. Buy Pomco 8-ouncers and keep everyone happy with his or her favorite . . . and with no leftovers either!



Unexpected company at the door, and the refrigerator is practically bare? Despair not, lady. If your pantry shelf contains a can or two of Pomco Tuna Fish and a can of Pomco Mixed Vegetables, you are on your way to a company dish that will please all comers.

2 cans Pomco Tuna Fish — drained and flaked
1 can Pomco Mixed Vegetables
1½ cups boiling water
2 beef bouillon cubes — Pomco of course!
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ cup milk
4 ounce can Pomco Button Mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Add bouillon cubes to the boiling water. While they are dissolving, melt butter in a saucepan. Add flour and thyme and stir until blended. Add beef stock; stir thoroughly. Add the flaked tuna fish, the mixed vegetables. Stir and heat until mixture thickens. Add milk, mushrooms and pimiento. Serve over toast triangles.

A super-delicious molded treat that can be served as dessert or as a salad is CHERRY-ORANGE BAVARIAN.

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
2 egg whites
1 cup cream for whipping
2 medium California oranges cut in chunks
1 can Pomco Sweet Dark Cherries

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt together in a saucepan; stir in beaten egg yolks and milk and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken and bubbles around edge. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice; chill to unbeaten egg white consistency. Beat egg whites until fluffy but not dry; beat cream until stiff. Fold egg whites, cream, orange chunks and the cherries into gelatin mixture. Turn into a quart mold, a refrigerator tray or individual molds. Chill until firm.

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, as the fable says, then surely the best insurance for a successful marriage is a perfect cup of coffee . . . always. Nothing starts the day off in the right direction, or serves as a midday picker-upper like a fragrant cup of Pomco Coffee. Pomco chooses the finest coffees, blends them just so and roasts the coffee to a turn. Whatever coffee maker you use you'll find Pomco Coffee gives you perfect results time after time. Drip or regular grind . . . and instant Pomco Coffee too!

A can of Pomco Sliced Peaches, a box of your favorite white cake mix, some whipping cream and you have the makings of a "peach" of a dessert. The cake is baked in two layers and cooled. Turn one layer upside down; spread with sweetened whipped cream and drained canned Pomco Cling Peach Slices. Top with the other layer — this one right side up — and once more spread with whipped cream and the remainder of the peach slices.

PICNIC SEASON IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Be ready for that first cry of "Let's eat outside tonight, Mom" or "Let's take a picnic to the park — please Mom?" Stock up now with the dozens of Pomco picnic items. Pickles, olives, catsup, salad dressing, relish and mustard, just to mention a few. See your Pomco dealer today and remember . . .

Your Food Problem—

Spanish Pork Roast for Father's Day

Edith Barber

Next Sunday, Father's Day, the head of the family will be pampered — as he should be. Probably everyone knows what he likes to eat best. It may be steak, it may be roast beef or it may be roast pork.

If the latter is the case, there should be no comments in regard to the use of this meat in hot weather. Actually, there is nothing against this except that the oven will be in use for a rather long period and this may make the cook uncomfortable. Pork is used all the year round in many countries. In Mediterranean countries, it is chosen for eating both hot and cold.

A favorite Spanish recipe calls for marinating the meat in wine for several hours. During the last half hour of baking, cored apples are arranged on squares of toast and placed around the roast. If cooking apples are not available in your market, the meat may be served with sherry-flavored applesauce.

The Spanish like to use a sweet wine for marinating and cooking pork. By the way, they feel it is worthwhile to use a fine wine, as a comparatively small amount is needed. A potatoe salad is often an accompaniment of either hot or cold pork.

SPANISH PORK ROAST

Rub trimmed roast with rosemary, pepper and salt. Place in baking pan with 1 cup sweet sherry, and let stand several hours, turning occasionally. Roast in slow oven (325 Degrees F.) basting frequently — allow 30 minutes to the pound, and cook to 155 degrees by meat thermometer. One half hour before roasting is completed, place slices of toast topped with cored apples stuffed with sugar around roast. Baste apples once or twice during cooking.

SPANISH POTATO SALAD

Peel hot boiled potatoes. Slice and dress with well-seasoned French dressing. Chill, and when ready to serve, add chopped green onions and parsley. Garnish with browned slivered almonds.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

1 pound cottage cheese
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons minced onion or chopped chives
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Paprika
Salad greens
French dressing

Mix cottage cheese with salt, onion or chives, and parsley. If cheese is dry, moisten with sweet or sour cream. Pack in small bowl and chill half an hour or more. Unmold on large plate, sprinkle with paprika, and surround with salad greens. Sprinkle greens lightly with French dressing. Yield: 6 servings. Note: Alternate mounds of slice unpared cucumbers and radishes may be arranged on the greens.

DESSERT SALAD

Flavor cottage cheese to taste with sugar, orange juice and lemon juice. Mix well, and serve in mounds surrounded by fruit sections or berries. Garnish with water cress or salad greens.

IF FATHER'S FAVORITE IS ROAST PORK, treat him to this Spanish version. The meat, well trimmed and rubbed with rosemary, is marinated in sweet sherry and roasted with apples on toast.

Salad Dressing Adds Flavor In Cooking

Two of the standard methods for cooking in the home kitchen have been, and still are, baking and broiling. The latter term is gradually being replaced — and not always legitimately — by barbecuing.

Perhaps this is not such a bad idea, as the man of the household may take more interest in helping prepare a meal if his part is the barbecue. Sometimes he will go as far as to prepare the sauce, or the basting marinade, himself. He is interested in every suggestion for variations.

The women Food Editors, and a few of the male sex enjoyed the demonstration that Chef Robert Kleis, formerly of the Brown Derby of California, put on in a spectacular fashion recently. He is an expert at mincing savory vegetables, and it is always fascinating to see the way a fine chef uses the knife for this purpose. While one cannot compete with him in this respect, one can follow his suggestions for combining a salad dressing mix with oil, lemon juice, vinegar or wine, and, in some cases, vegetables for brushing fish or meat before broiling.

Larger cuts of meat and smaller cuts of chicken can be marinated in the mixture and some time before roasting. Different mixtures are suggested for various purposes. The garlic salad dressing mix, for instance, is used with beef and milder mixes with chicken and fish.

BRUSH-ON SAUCE FOR FISH

2 teaspoons French salad dressing mix
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine salad dressing mix, oil and lemon juice. Use to brush on fish before and during broiling. Yield: enough for 1 pound of fish.

MARINADE FOR CHICKEN

1 package herb salad dressing mix
1 cup white wine
½ cup salad oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 medium onion, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
6 drops Tabasco sauce
½ cup chopped celery

Combine ingredients and mix well. Pour mixture over roasting chicken and let stand 8 to 12 hours in refrigerator, turning chicken occasionally. Use marinade to baste chicken during cooking. Yield: about 2 cups marinade, or enough for 1 roasting chicken.

QUICK MEAL

Broiled lamb chops; Potatoes ed vegetable salad; Strawberries and cream; Coffee.

—TASTY RECIPES—

BREAKFAST CANTALOUPE

Wrap cantaloupe in foil or transparent film wrap before chilling 6 or 8 hours in refrigerator. When ready to serve, cut in halves. Scoop out seeds with tablespoon and serve at once. Salt and powdered sugar should be offered at the table for those who like one of these additions to melon. If desired, the cantaloupe may be filled with berries, or with sectioned grapefruit and oranges.

RICH MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream until fluffy. Stir in well-beaten egg. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating well after each addition. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (425 Degrees F.) about 20 to 30 minutes. Yield: 18 small or 12 medium muffins.

Fresh Produce Has 'Detergent' Effect

Detergent is a word that has crept into the vocabulary in recent years. It has been coined to describe a cleansing agent other than soap but actually has a broader meaning.

The American Dental Association lists fresh fruits and vegetables all as detergent foods. Eating such foods as raw celery and carrots, as well as fresh apples, oranges and other fruits, helps remove deposits of softer foods from the teeth.

Of course the reason people like raw vegetables that are classed as relishes is their crisp texture and flavor. Use them as ingredients for salad, but more likely serve them in strips during a meal or before as an appetizer, accompanied by a savory dip.

One of the favorite relishes is stuffed celery. The filling may be a well-seasoned cream cheese or a combination of cream cheese and Roquefort or of other highly seasoned products. When stuffed celery is passed with other relishes, it seems to be the first choice.

We no longer judge celery by the shade of the stalks. White and bleached was once upon a time the standard. That was before the Parcal type of celery was on the market. Now, practically every stalk is tender enough to be used. Occasionally the outer stalks of the bunch may need to have some of their "strings" removed.

STUFFED CELERY I

Blend equal parts of cream cheese and Roquefort or blue cheese. Soften, if necessary, with a little milk or cream. Cut celery into 2-inch portions and stuff each piece with the mixture.

U. S. Steel Is Increasing Rate Of Oxygen Output

PITTSBURGH (UP)—U.S. Steel Corp. announced today the world's largest single unit oxygen producing plant for steel mill service has begun operations at its nearby Duquesne, Pa. Works.

The oxygen plant, built, operated and owned by Union Carbide's Linde Co. division, has a rated capacity of over 500 tons of oxygen per day. About 90 per cent of its production is being used to increase output and reduce fuel consumption in the Duquesne Works' ferro-manganese furnaces.

By injecting additional oxygen into the furnaces, U.S. Steel said the normal daily production of 700 tons of ferromanganese at Duquesne will be increased more than 25 per cent while simultaneously cutting coke consumption.

U.S. Steel said the decision to install an oxygen plant at Duquesne was made after an experiment conducted in 1954 and 1955 demonstrated the benefits gained by adding oxygen to the air blast.

A 6 per cent oxygen enrichment of the air blast will boost ferromanganese production by accelerating the smelting process. Since fuel efficiency is improved by addition of oxygen, less coke is burned for each ton of ferromanganese produced.

Three Named to Woodville Board

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has asked the state Senate to confirm these appointments to the board of trustees of Woodville State Hospital, to fill vacancies:

Mrs. Rosemary Plesset, 5815 Northumberland St., Mrs. Joan S. Benesch, 209 Lytton Ave., and Mrs. Frances K. Hooker, 5653 Callowhill St., all of Pittsburgh.

Erie Soldiers, Sailors Home To Be Surveyed

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House Rules Committee today considered a resolution for an investigation of the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Erie to determine whether the institution should be closed or expanded.

The resolution, sponsored by Reps. Blaine C. Hocker and Robert S. Ogilvie, Dauphin County Republicans, would have the Joint State Government Commission conduct the study. The Assembly's research arm would report to the 1959 Legislature its recommendations on whether to continue and expand the home or either close or curtail the operation.

The measure said the status of the home has been "a subject of controversy for some time." It outlined 10 points covering the operation of the home for the commission to survey.

Civic Light Opera Seminar for Students

Elementary, high school and college students of the tri-state area who are members of the Civic Light Opera's First Nighter Club are being invited to attend a seminar at Pitt Stadium in mid-July on the technical aspects of stage production.

William Wymetal, managing director of CLO, will conduct the seminar and students will be given the opportunity to visit backstage and witness the work of the various technical departments, including wardrobe, scenery construction, "prop" construction and scenic painting departments.

Participating in his educational project will be Karl Kritz, musical direcor; Rose K. Swartz, director of Light Opera Guild; Robert H. Gordon, stage director; Furth Ullman, scenic designer; Edward Noll, choreographer; Helen Michel, costume supervisor; James Miller, company manager, and Lorella Val-Mery, publicity director.

All elementary, high school and college students in the area are eligible for membership in the First Nighter Club. Membership fee is 50 cents which entitles students to purchase tickets at half-price, for any seat anywhere in the stadium, for any Monday night performance.

Six musical shows will be presented: June 24 through 29, Dolores Gray will star in "Silk Stockings"; July 1 through 6, Lois Hunt will star in "The Great Waltz: July 8 through 12, John Raitt stars in "Pajama Game"; July 15 through 20, John Raitt appears in "Carousel"; July 22 through 27, Gretchen Wyler and Robert Smith co-star in "Damn Yankees"; July 29 through August 3, Florence Henderson and John Brownlee appear in "Fanny".

Thomas Jefferson started the Democratic party in 1793 when he resigned from Washington's cabinet and formed his own political party.

'Treasure' Found On Property of Arthur Godfrey

MIAMI BEACH (UP)— Arthur Godfrey's oceanfront property has yielded a $100,000 "hidden treasure" of stolen bonds and jewelry which police said two convicts had buried in the sand.

Detectives using a rough map drawn by the convicts now confined in Mobile, Ala., on robbery convictions led detectives Wednesday to three strong boxes buried together in a shallow hole covered with sand.

Officers said Godfrey knew nothing about the cache on his property.

Police said the bonds, $75,825 in non-negotiable war savings certificates and upwards of $25,000 in transferable utility stocks, were buried 200 yards north of the Kenilworth Hotel, owned by the television star.

Movie Actress Happy With Her TV Roles

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Margaret Hamilton, typecast as a witch and soursuss in some 75 movies, is riding high on TV—but happily without her broom.

You may remember Miss Hamilton as the witch in "The Wizard of Oz" or as the hawk - nosed harpie in such films as 'Angels With Dirty Faces' and 'Nothing Sacred.'

She deserted Hollywood six years ago for Mannattan and TV. She's suffered a bit of a drop in salary but there is one compensation—TV has untyped her. This Monday she'll appear in 'The Staring Match" on CBS - TV's 'Studio One."

She Gets Chance

'In Hollywood, I played witches, nasty school teachers and endless roles as maids," signed Miss Hamilton. 'There were only two times in pictures when I had parts quite different—you know warm, sympathetic roles. Of course, I'm not protesting — one look at me and it's obvious why I was cast in such character parts.

'But anyway, TV has given me a chance to be an actress. And I don't think there's anything I would rather do more. I rarely turn anything down. I'll act in anything."

'In films, I worked 16 to 20 weeks a year and my salary was $1 000 a week," said Miss Hamilton. 'In TV, I may get $350, $450 for an average job but with radio and commercials, I bring it up to $12,000 to $15 000 a year."

Had Meaty Roles

The movies typecast out of laziness, said Miss Hamilton. "It's the easy way out. Nobody really has to bother to think," she said. "For the actor it's sort of good in a way to be typed because if you're not, nobody will think of you for anything. But it doesn't make work very exciting.

'Still, one thing I will say — even though I was typed out there, I got meaty roles. I was almost always nasty and it's nice to be nasty at times. You get reaction. I remember back in 1927 I played a glamour girl on the stage—nice clothes and all that, but, lord, it was dull. I'd rather be mean anytime."

'Gunsmoke' Cast Not Worried Over Competition

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Saddles and six-shooters will blanket television next fall when Westerns take over the home screens. But towering Jim Arness, whose "Gunsmoke" started the trend, isn't worried.

Since the CBS-TV filmed series, plus Hugh O'Brian's "Wyatt Earp," became such successes, TV, like the movie industry, has clamped onto Westerns as a surefire way to get audiences.

Because show business producers and sponsors are traditionally trend followers. Earp, Dillon and other TV western stars will be joined next fall by the biggest stampede of sagebrush heroes in TV history.

A record number of television series bit the dust this spring to make way for the downpour of Westerns and private eye series next fall. Thirty-four old series, nearly double last year's casualties, were axed, including "Private Secretary", "Bengal Lancers", "Noah's Ark", and Hiram Holliday."

ABC-TV leads the networks with eight oaters scheduled for next fall, followed by NBC and CBS with four each. Some of the new Western series being filmed for fall release include "Wagon Train", "Tales of Wells Fargo", "Tales of Texas Rangers", "Broken Arrow" and 'Have Gun, Will Travel."

But Jim Arness, now rambling through his new 'Gunsmoke" series before the cameras at California Studio, yawns that the rush to hop on the bandwagon is 'flattering" but not harming to his show.

"It's all to the good," he said. "When something catches on, that's it. Everybody goes that way.

"But we're not worried about this new competition. From what I know of the new Western series, I don't think competition will be tough. From the standpoint of quality, nothing can hurt our show."

Low-Sodium Milk Useful When Salt's Restricted

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Low-sodium milk may be just the thing those of you on a salt-restricted diet may need to round out your meals.

Low-sodium milk is liquid whole milk from which more than 90 per cent of the normal sodium content has been removed. This is done through a process in which the sodium is replaced with potassium.

Although this results in doubling the ordinary amount of potassium, it is still within the safe range as far as adults are concerned.

It is a difficult job for a doctor to plan a sodium-restricted diet which is tasty and high in protein, yet low in sodium content.

Many physicians recommend that milk be omitted entirely or at least that the quantity consumed be kept to a minimum. This makes it difficult for the patient to obtain the needed amounts of calcium, protein and riboflavin.

In fact, the American Medical Association's Council on Foods and Nutrition recently pointed out that the necessity of restricting consumption of meat and other protein foods, which contain large amounts of sodium makes the potential value of milk even more evident.

The council terms low-sodium milk "very useful" in planning sodium-restricted diets.

This type of diet usually is recommended to counteract the body's fluid retention for such conditions as cirrhosis of the liver, congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, toxemias of pregnancy and in certain kidney diseases.

Low-sodium milk compares favorably with whole milk in many nutrients. However, the content of niacin, thiamine and Vitamin B12 is cut about in half. Vitamin B6 and calcium are reduced about one-fourth.

All this must be taken into consideration when planning use of low-sodium milk in a diet. That is why all such diets should be planned by physicians, not the patients themselves.

Russian Research Is Active

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—The upper floors at 16 Dunster street, a drab gray building just off Harvard Square, are not high. But from them 40 men and women are able to obtain a fairly clear view of the other side of the Iron Curtain.

They try to learn not only what the people in Communist lands are doing but what is in their minds.

These scholars comprise the staff of Harvard University's Russian Research Center, the largest non - government organization devoted exclusively to the study of the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Now in its 10th year, the study goes on continuously to broaden the free world's knowledge of the Communist orbit. The scholars are trying to find out what is true and false. They are not trying to "prove" or "expose" anything.

Carnegie Foundation Grant

The center was created with a Carnegie Foundation grant after it was discovered that few people in America had a deep understanding of Russia and the Russian people.

"The center rests squarely on the premise that it is essential to know as much as possible about so great a power, be it friend or foe," explains William L. Langer Coolidge professor of history at Harvard and head of the center's staff.

"The existence of the Iron Curtain and the cold war call for unusual efforts to secure adequate information and to grasp the organization and operation of a system fundamentally so much at variance with that of the West.

"The objective of the center is to encourage, support and improve scholarly study of the Soviet Union, and to some extent, of the satellites and of Communist China with a view of deepening our understanding of Communist society and sharpening our evaluation of the international actions and policies of the Soviet Union."

Many Changes in Poland, UP Ace Newsman Reports

(UP correspondent Russell Jones, who covered the Hungarian revolt, is behind the Iron Curtain again, this time in Poland. He has spent several weeks there after driving from Vienna across Czechoslovakia. Here are his first impressions.)

By RUSSELL JONES

POZNAN, Poland (UP) — This is Poland today:

Packed Catholic churches, a Communist government, stomach-wrenching poverty, a million dollars worth of vodka drunk daily.

People who make no bones of their dislike for their Russian neighbor to the east, but feel the black depths of hatred toward their German neighbor to the west.

A country whose own Communist leader himself so recently knew the "darkness at noon" of a Red prison. One where Josef Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, is virtually as free and influential as in pre-war days.

Twenty-eight million people with only 150,000 trucks and cars among all of them. Too poor to buy one suit in five years, but cooking in butter. Drunkenness so widespread all vodka shops are closed paydays so at least some money gets home.

Steal To Live

People speaking with astonishing candor of their Communist government and about the Russians, yet a Parliament with no electoral opposition to the Communists. A nation with an almost fully socialized economy, yet one where 2 million dollars in goods are stolen every day by people who must steal to stay alive.

A strange country of contrasts and contradictions.

It was in this city of Poznan a year ago this month—June 28 — that the workers rose against the Red regime. Fifty-three were killed and more than 300 wounded. But the spark of Poznan brought Wladislaw Gomulka, "Poland's Tito," back to power from a prison cell. The spark jumped national boundaries — it helped ignite the bloody revolt in Hungary.

I drove here from Vienna across Czechoslovakia. On the trip you can see the full range from free Austrian democracy to Czech Stalinism to the Polish "road to socialism."

After Vienna, its streets teeming with cars and hardly a uniform in sight, the Czech frontier came as a brutal reminder that we still live in two worlds.

Poland A Contrast

As I drove up to the Czech border, soldiers trained their tommyguns on my car from behind accordions of barbed wire. Steel rails barred the road to any would-be escapees.

Not one Czech showed more than a sullen curiosity at the new German-made car and its American driver on the 200 miles across Czechoslovakia.

What a contrast once in Poland!

The people were interested in the car and its driver. What kind was it and how much fuel did it burn? Would it be possible to sit for a moment in the car. Would one dare to ask for a short drive? Where was I going and why?

Here in Poznan I met Bronislaw Lentzner at his workbench at the Cegielski factory. It used to be called the "Stalin works." Lentzner is a machine tool operator. He is one of the men who went into Poznan's street a year ago, his arms linked with those of men, women and students who braved the rifle and machinegun fire.

Was Poznan worth it?

Lentzner Holds Future

Lentzner will decide that. The future of Poland really rests on his shoulders and those of men like him.

Lentzner is a thin, tired-looking man of 49. He supports his wife, year-old son, daughters, 10 and 12, and his aged mother. I asked him why he staked his life in the uprising.

"I just didn't care," he told me. Is life any better now?

"I make 200 zlotys (eight dollars) a month more than then," he said. "But wages are still too low and it is difficult to live?"

What about new freedoms of press and speech?

Enjoys Conversation

"Well, I don't read much, but it's a good feeling to talk to you. And anyone else, without thinking that someone is listening and reporting.

"You know, the change I like best is films from the West. Before they were Soviet films and too dull to sit through."

Would Lentzner dare to protest openly again?

He smiled slightly.

"One must remember," he said, "that Poland is a small country with great neighbors. (He obviously meant Russia and West Germany). "We can not do exactly what we want and when we want. We have made a start. Things are better than they were. We must go slowly."

Grand Coulee dam, in Washington, is the largest masonry structure in the world. It contains the great pyramid of Egypt.

Republican Asked To Be Democrat

MEADVILLE, Pa. (UP) — George X. Simonetta, who lost the Republican nomination as mayor of Meadville by only 80 votes last month, has been invited to run in November as a Democrat.

Simonetta, who was beaten by William Mossman May 21, said today he will accept an invitation to attend a city Democratic Committee meeting, but "that doesn't mean I will run" as a Democrat.

Simonetta received a number of Democratic write-in votes at the primary in which there was no Democratic name on the ballot for mayor.
